CASHIER HERING TELLS OF MILLION-DOLLAR STEAL

BANK LOOTER BET $75,000 ON SINGLE HORSE RACE

President of Wrecked Chicago Institution Was a "Plunger" on the Races and Lost Heavily, According to Cashier Hering.

By Boston American Leased Wire.

CHICAGO, Aug. 10.—Sensational discoveries made to-day in the million dollar loot by President Stensland of the Milwaukee avenue bank reveal where the bank wrecker lost some of the money.

He is shown up to-day in a new role, that of sport and race track player, by the finding of a little book showing that the missing president, in company with a coterie of friends, was a heavy bettor on the races. It contained memoranda of the campaigns on the turf.

Embezzler Bet $75,000 on a Race.

One day Stensland and his pals bet $75,000 to win $60,000 on a horse called General Bragg. The animal won.

There were lots of losings, however, to offset this big winning.

"This shows," said Cashier Hering, through whom the facts were developed, "that I'm not the only fellow around here who followed the ponies."

Another sensational discovery was the turning up by Cashier Hering of a private ledger kept by President Stensland, in which was concealed $203,000 of savings bank deposits.

This account was kept a secret, was never included as a liability of the bank, and was never so reported to the State auditor.

These disclosures were the result of an eight hour third degree session between the police and Hering, who was taken to a hotel at midnight in the custody of detectives. The night inquisition was a spectacular affair. Hering was lurried to the wrecked bank in a closed carriage and for hours was in the vault-beneath the street level.

Because of supplications a guard of seventy-five policemen and detectives surround ed the bank to protect him from possible mob violence. Not ever one hundred persons were in the street however. When he was excused for the night with a promise of another interesting day the authorities felt confident they could convict him of forgery, embezzlement and violation of State banking laws.

YOUNG STENSLAND BAILED.

Theodore Stensland, son of the president, who was arrested a second time, gave bail at midnight. On account of his arrest he was unable to keep his promise to turn over $65,000 of his father's property. He says he will do this.

The Federal Court late at night appointed the Chicago Title and Trust Company receiver for the personal property of the missing president.

Arrangements were made to pay a dividend of 20 per cent to the depositors inside of two weeks. The total amount of deposits is $4,185,000.

Cashier Hering, under "third degree" pressure, it is declared, has also betrayed the hiding place of Stensland, and the police are now confident of the arrest of the bank wrecker before the day is over.

Strict secrecy is maintained by the authorities as to the detective's whereabouts, but the impression was given out that he was in Chicago.

Following this disclosure came the sensational news of a secret trip made by Theodore Stensland at an early hour today, and which it is reported, has for its solution nothing less than a personal interview with Stensland himself.

This trip it is claimed followed a conference of the officials of the bank and the co-operative stores which is vitally affected by the crash, held in the home of Ole Stensland, No. 2760 Marlboro avenue, at an early hour this morning for the purpose of arranging the disposal or sale of securities agreed to be delivered by Theodore Stensland at the time of his arrest yesterday.

There were present at the meeting Theodore Stensland, Stensland and the chairman of the finance committee of the bank and store. While the situation was generally discussed, the especial messenger bearing the securities failed to appear.

MAY GET SECURITIES.

Theodore Stensland appeared to be in great distress and lamented the absence of the securities. He telephoned frequently here and there, especially with a view to hurrying the expected messenger.

At 1 o'clock Theodore Stensland left the house and drove westward at a furious gait. He returned two hours later, his horse covered with foam, but he refused to say whither he had gone or where he had spent his time. He stated, however, that he was trying to secure communication with his father.

The conference broke up at 3 o'clock without the expected securities having been received. Theodore Stensland said he would have the securities at an early hour to-day.

In the conference young Stensland announced that he expected to be arrested again to-day, as his bail bonds are already high, he expressed the fear that he could not obtain further security.

"My dad" he groaned, "why don't my father communicate with me."

The impression is growing stronger that the missing president is in hiding in or near Chicago.

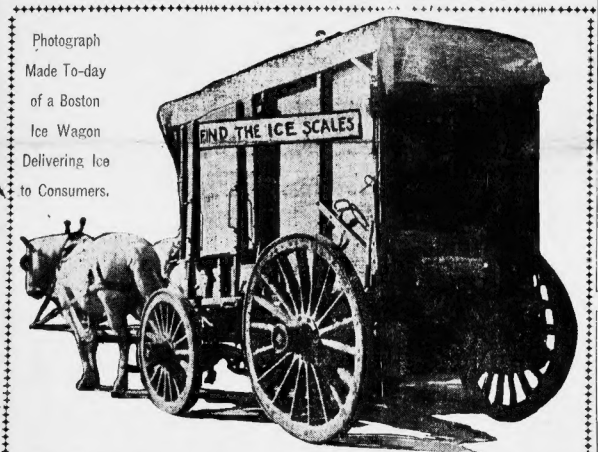
CITY MACHINISTS MAY STRIKE

At a meeting of Boston Machinists, unsatisfactory conditions at Cail Pasture were taken up and a committee will wait on the Mayor with their grievance. Vacation allotments are primarily the cause of the trouble, but other discriminations are alleged. Unless there is a change a strike of city machinists may develop.

Test Shows Faulty Scales; Moran May Probe

SHORT ICE WEIGHT

PUZZLE—WHERE ARE THE SCALES?



Photograph Made To-day of a Boston Ice Wagon Delivering Ice to Consumers.

American Investigation Proves That Drivers Cut Ice by Their Eyes.

The startling fact, made public to-day, that more than one-third of the 183 ice scales so far tested by the city have been giving short weight, in addition to the exorbitant prices being charged by the barons, is one of the phases of the situation, it is understood, that is being investigated by the Grand Jury.

That there were sixty-eight inaccurate scales—and not one among them that gave overweight—among the lot examined by the department of weights and measures, accounts to some extent for the justifiable protests that customers have been making about the extremely small pieces of ice that have been delivered to them for their money.

58 Faulty, 7 Condemned.

Of the 149 scales belonging to the Boston Ice Company that were tested, fifty-eight were ordered repaired, and of the thirteen examined of Pope & Turner, of Dorchester, seven were condemned.

The law requires that ice-men shall have correct scales on their wagons, but as a matter of fact, but very few of them do so, as was shown by an investigation made by BOSTON AMERICAN reporters to-day. For the most part the ice-men make a guess at the weight, and their guesses are on a par with the scales that have been tested. This is another feature of the ice cases which is to believed will be taken into consideration by the Grand Jury before it disposes of the cases before it.

Cut Ice by the Eye.

Only one team out of at least seven ice-teams representing five different companies, seen in the business and residential districts early to-day, had scales visible with which to weigh the ice. The one team, that of Fletcher & Company, was stationed on Summer street, near the corner of High. From the side, and at the rear of the wagon, was suspended a set of scales.

In all other cases there were no scales visible. Even in the case of the wagon that was supplied with scales, there was little evidence of their having been used

MORAN CALLS 4 WOMEN IN HIS CHELSEA PROBE

SUMMONS SEVENTEEN WITNESSES BEFORE GRAND JURY TO-DAY IN GRAFT CHARGES.

In the probing of the Chelsea charges of graft, which began in earnest before the Grand Jury to-day, District Attorney John B. Moran examined the witnesses in person.

Among the seventeen persons summoned before the secret body to tell what they know regarding the sensational allegations that have been made were four women. They were Annie Connell, Margaret Smith, Marie Kelley and Mrs. Hepletwaite.

Miss Smith was a clerk of Alderman Alfred H. Cornell. The first witness to be summoned before the Grand Jury was Louis L. G. Bellefleumony, former city solicitor of Chelsea. The other witnesses who had been summoned and who were present were Roland M. N. Foote, Ellick Bloomberg, Daniel H. Sullivan, Jeremiah Driscoll, William Melntyre, Harry L. Stroul, Thomas E. Driggins, Ralph Douglass, Dead of Revere, George H. Wilder, William J. Chisholm and Thomas H. Carroll.

The present investigation resulted from the action of Alderman William S. Young, who last Winter made charges in an open meeting of the Board of Aldermen of Chelsea that there had been graft in connection with certain appointments to office and in other matters.

A committee made an investigation and reported that three of the aldermen should resign. Aldermen Young being one of the five. The others were Thomas E. Douglas, Charles H. Black, David White and Edgar E. Stroul.

About 1,200 pages of testimony were taken by the committee and a copy of it was given to District Attorney Moran. It is now presumed that with the facts furnished him

"GHOSTERS" DENY HOLYLAND PILGRIMAGE

Barkentine Could Never Make the Trip, Says Mate of the Rebecca Crowell.

CRAFT ARRIVES IN HARBOR

If the men, women and children of the "Holy Land and Return" who left Boston, Mr. consumptive on a pilgrimage to the Holy Land, have not passed the final destination, the crew of the barkentine Rebecca Crowell do not know it. The little vessel is now lying off Lewis Island light, President Roads, where she arrived last night.

"The would never reach the Holy Land," was the response of Mate George McNiel, when he was asked by a reporter on the BOSTON AMERICAN at the party to be aboard the vessel. Asked as to the ac-twelve women and three children in the party. The sleeping quarters of all are as good as can be found on a sailing vessel.

An inspection of the interior of the ship made as a result of reports of bad holes, wailing and general discomfort, the fact, however, that the pilgrims are even popularity. The lower deck has been partitioned off into sleeping rooms, strips of canvas nailed to upright wooden beams. The beds consist mainly of bags of the Body Brand, and are thick, dismal and damp. The Rebecca crossed in fairly "three days out."

A group of women and children on the deck, when asked to talk concerning the pilgrimage and return to Boston, showed they did not wish to be interviewed. Capt. Patten A. K. Peterson, however, was seized upon. The Rev. Mr. Hall, who was in charge of the "Holy Ground and Return" party, was aboard the ship to-day. The mate said he did not know where he was, but supposed he was at No. 40 Massachusetts avenue, the Boston headquarters.

The Rebecca crossed up into Boston, so far as the mate knew, without any mishaps. The vessel is to be her only destination this year. It is some of the wildest seas ever encountered that she weathered on the trip.

BISHOP CALLS THE "ENDLESS PRAYER" HOAX

Episcopal Head Annoyed by Letters From All Over the Country.

The "endless chain of prayer" which has been the cause of much concern on the part of church members in many parts of the United States, is a hoax and the work of some criminal or mischievous person, Bishop William Lawrence of the Episcopal Diocese of Massachusetts, declared yesterday. Bishop Lawrence is in the receipt of many letters from persons who believed that the

Bishop from persons who believed that of prayer" was start-ed late May, which several persons received the following letter:

Endless Chain Prayer.

"Endless prayer. Jesus, Jesus, Jesus Christ, as before thee, O, eternal God to bless, and heal me, through Jesus Christ. Keep us from all sin by his precious blood and take us to thy heavenly home. Amen. This prayer was sent to us by Bishop Lawrence, recommending it to be sent for forty days. He who receives it not send it will be afflicted with some misfortune. One man who failed to continue not with accident or death. He who will send it without a break for forty days will distinguish it to some other person. Remember no one day it is received and sending it on will see a day. will be granted you. Within four days once great joy. At Jerusalem, during the week first it was written. A person who will receive this prayer will be delivered from all evil. Do not break the chain. I send you the endless prayer as received. Amen."

Amazed by Letters.

These communications, which one afternation in all parts of the country are causing endless distraction, was not broken. Letters were received by Bishop Lawrence men from people many miles separated and worried correspondents from the letters they received. Seriously a day went by that Bishop Lawrence did not receive a communication regarding it and it was in order that no publicity might be given to the writers of those that he decided to make this date to-day.

FRISCO RUNS SHY ON CANDY

NEW YORK, Aug. 10.—"I'm sure now that San Francisco is recovering all right," said a Californian here. "The supply of candy is by no means equal to the demand.

"I have received a letter telling me this spring that a large candy-making place in Berkeley, across the bay, had increased its business 1,000 per cent. in the last two months. In that time new machinery worth $10,000 has been added to the plant to turn out chocolates, gums and other nice things. A new chocolate cream plant has been started back of the factory, and other extensions are under way.

"Prosperity," said the Californian, "follows the candy kick, all right."

FIRST NEW YORK HOPS SHOWN HERE

The first bale of New York hops of the growth of 1906 was harvested Sunday at Waterville, N. Y., by William Livermore. It was purchased by the Massachusetts Brewerie Company and is now on exhibition at their offices. It is said that this bale of 1906 hops far surpasses in quality any early bale of recent years.

SIXTY MILLION BACTERIA ALLOWED BY LAW IN EVERY PLATE OF ICE CREAM

23,400,000,000 in Hokey-Pokey, and That Is Too Much, Says Board of Health.

Experiments on Young Girl Only Result in an Earnest Appeal for More.

"No person, by himself or by his servant, or agent, or as the servant or agent of any other person, firm or corporation, shall in the city of Boston, sell, exchange or deliver, any ice cream which contains more than 60,000,000 bacteria per cubic centimeter." Section 2 of Board of Health's new regulation for ice cream dealers.

It follows intelligently some of the suppositions hitherto opened in the Health Board's report regarding ice cream. It is necessary, knew that in round numbers there are thirty cubic inches in a liquid quart, and that a centimeter is the one hundredth part of thirty-one inches, or a little more than a third of an inch.

Allowing ten teaspoonfuls to the ordinary plate of ice cream, each teaspoonful contains about twenty cubic centimetres, which makes 120 cubic centimetres in a plate.

If, therefore, by special permit of the Board of Health, 500,000 bacteria are allowed to be gained in every cubic centimeter of frozen cream and sugar, there must be large limits of thousand of them in any teaspoonful, or 60,000,000 in a plate.

Can Make Many Friends.

Then at the Board of Health's modest a-sequence of 5,000,000 microscopic things of mystery to the cubic centimetre, every treat-ing, flight-hearted girl who joyfully goes her way after finishing a plate of "Ma," "strawberry," "chocolate" or "salted," has unconsciously made intimate friends with 60,000,000 perfect strangers.

Regarding this unsentimental line of thought, the Investigator will learn that in the end of a week, the lucky or unlucky girl who has one a plate of ice cream every day (and say) two plates on Sundays, has entertained unawares a grand army of bacteria, 1st 000,000 strong.

These figures, of course, are conservative. They apply only to poor girls with financial neck reins on their appetite. Furthermore, the calculations have been built on a basis of only 500,000 bacteria per cubic centimetre, a truly conservative estimate of population.

Just Think of This.

But take the case of a wealthy young victim of the ice cream habit with no one to warn her and with no strings attached to her desire for more. In her melancholy case a perfectly simple arithmetical process will prove that if all the legions of bacteria she has swallowed this Summer were paraded in single file, end to end, they would form a line long enough to stretch completely around the globe, with sufficient to spare and removed all heat and dry-ness from her throat.

The second 60,000,000 produced a sensible lowering of the temperature, while the third 60,000,000 produced a sensible, unblushing appetite for further experimentation along the lines of college ices. The soothing, comforting satisfying effects of the third 60,000,000 were unutterable.

From a sensational viewpoint the last two were nothing at all to write home about. So far as proving deadly, those 180,000,000 scarcely figured in the three college ices reported to us as helpful.

Of course, they may have been asleep.

Perhaps they were not working.

Or may be they lifted the warmth of their new playgrounds.

PERSIANS AND TURKS ON VERGE OF GREAT WAR

Fifteen Thousand of Shah's Troops Are Mobilized in Border Province.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Aug. 10. Trouble has again arisen over the subject of the Turkish Persian frontier, and the outlook is serious. Both Turkey and Persia have been concentrating their forces during the last week to be prepared for eventualities. Persia has mobilized an army of 15,000 men in the province of Lachisan and Turkey has retaliated by mobilizing her troops. There have been almost daily skirmishes between the vanguards of the two armies, in which the Persians have been uniformly victorious.

Dysentery has broken out among the Turks, and the disease has carried off 350 soldiers within a few days.

LAD ESCAPES BY 50-FOOT DIVE

Pietro Leoni, an Italian lad of fifteen years, who was being held at the Long wharf detention pen until his brother called for him, made his escape yesterday by leaping from the roof to the water, fifty feet below. The boy succeeded in swimming to a fleet of dories belonging to Italian fishermen and climbing across them he hurried up a ladder onto the wharf and disappeared up Atlantic avenue.

The immigration officials are searching for him and hope to recapture him in a day or two. His brother has not yet appeared to claim him, but if he does it is likely that the boy will be allowed to go as he is too young to be punished for his act.

This is the second escape from the detention pen during the three years it has been in use.

SCALES ARE FAULTY; SHORT ICE WEIGHT

for some time, and they certainly were not for at least ten minutes, while the wagon was stationed on Summer street.

Two teams of the Cooperative Ice Company were loaded a little farther down on Summer street. No scales were visible on any part of either of these two wagons. The drivers depended entirely upon their eye to determine the weight of the ice they sold.

No Sign of Scales.

From the business district to the residential was the next observation point. At the corner of E and West Third streets, a wagon of the Boston Ice Company was delivering ice to the people in that district. Here again there were no scales visible on the wagon. The driver seemed to be selling his pieces by size, rather than weight.

On Broadway, near C street, a team belonging to the Independent Ice Company was located. The same was true here as in the other cases. The driver divided his cakes with only his eye to go by.

Farther down the same street another team of the Boston Ice Company was located. No scales were visible here. The driver employed the same methods as did his fellow drivers on the other wagons.

When the fact that their were no scales visible on their wagons was presented to the Independent Ice Company they replied that all their wagons were supplied with them.

"No wagon leaves our stable without a set of scales," it was said. "The drivers have lost so many pair that they keep them under the seat. Many of them do not do this, but have them hanging up on the rear of the wagon, but it is certainly true that none of the wagons leave the stable without scales."

The Boston Ice Company also declared that all their teams were supplied.

"Every keep them under the seat," said Mr. Orne of that company. "Our orders are that every team shall be supplied, but of course if a driver loses a set and does not report the matter to us, why, we do not know that team is without them."

How Tests Resulted.

The following table shows the scales tested and the results:

	Tested	Oz. pound	Re-quired	Cor-rect
Boston Ice Co.	140	58	—	56
Hygeia Ice Co.	9	—	—	—
Ice Co.	3	—	—	—
Peter Fox Co.	3	1	—	1
Boston Dairy Co.	10	—	—	4
Morse, Alvord Co.	4	1	—	1
	183	60	8	56

Complaints Are Urged.

The Mayor says that, with the limited force of the sealers of weights and measures office maintained by the city, it is impossible for them to discover the fraction that all the ice sold in Boston is weighed correctly, and suggests that any person who has any reason to question the accuracy of the weight of the ice delivered to him notify the weights and measures department of his suspicions.

The report says that all the deputy sealers have been notified to take especial care to see that all the ice dealers doing business in their districts supply their wagons with scales, and that the scales supplied are the ones tested by the department.

HARRIMAN TICKET WINS.

NEW YORK, Aug. 10.—The ticket headed by E. H. Harriman and composed of members of the present board of directors won out at the annual meeting of stockholders of Wells, Fargo & Company yesterday. The opposition, headed by Walter C. Stokes, was badly beaten.

In the better grades, too, up to $8.00, the markdowns represent a saving to you of from $1.00 to $3.00.

For nearly a month our Trousers Dept. has been in the basement, temporarily ousted from its street-floor location on account of the extensive building operations incidental to our acquisition of the five-story building next to us.

A decrease from the normal sale of trousers has been the result, and we find ourselves overstocked.

To remedy this condition we have resorted to radical price-cuts on all grades, and as nearly 1,000 pairs of trousers are affected by the reductions it will readily be seen that this sale is no ordinary affair.

Every pair is from our own regular stock (Morse-Made) and fully guaranteed as to fit, style and quality.

CHORUS GIRL DENIES STORY THAT HER PRANK CAUSED THAW TRAGEDY

A STUDY OF EVELYN NESBIT THAW, WIFE OF WHITE'S SLAYER.

During his long and weary hours in the Tombs Harry Thaw is constantly comforted by thoughts of his beautiful wife and her ceaseless efforts to save him.

Miss Hattie Forsyth of Providence Says Report of Call at White's Studio Was False.

Special to the Boston American.

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Aug. 10.—Miss Hattie Forsyth, the beautiful young Providence chorus girl, denies emphatically today a New York story to the effect that she and two other chorus girls called at Stanford White's studio in Madison Square Gardens the night before Harry K. Thaw shot White and that they left word for a joke that Mrs. Thaw had called.

The inference from the New York story was that the mischievous prank of the three chorus girls was taken seriously by White. He was reported to have written Mrs. Thaw his regrets at being out when she called to have sent her a bunch of roses. It was further inferred that Thaw found the roses and the note and was inflamed to a homicidal rage that led to the tragedy on the night following.

Story of Chorus Girls.

The New York despatches said that Florenz Ziegfeld, a theatrical manager, was told a few days ago by one of his former chorus girls that she, Miss Forsyth, and a third chorus girl made the call at the White studio, and that the chorus girl feared that this thoughtless joke about Mrs. Thaw's name led to the shooting.

Miss Forsyth has just returned suddenly from Europe and, after the New York story came in, it was reported that she had been called by District Attorney William T. Jerome.

Miss Forsythe insists that he return from Europe after reaching London was due entirely to the fact that her mother, who resides here, was seriously ill and sent her a cablegram recalling her home, and that District Attorney Jerome's wishes had nothing to do with the matter.

As for calling upon Mr. White just prior to the tragedy and sending him a note signed Mrs. Thaw, for leaving word that "Mrs. Thaw called," Miss Forsyth denies that she ever called upon Stanford White in his studio in the Madison Square tower alone or with other chorus girls.

"There is no truth in it whatever, not the slightest particle," she said, emphatically, of her home here today. "It is all made up. I know absolutely nothing about it. I never was in the Madison Square Garden tower and had not seen Mr. White for months, except at a distance in theatres, as everybody else could have seen him.

"Neither had I seen or spoken to Mr. or Mrs. Harry Thaw for fully two years.

"Previous to my trip to Europe I came home to see mother, who was ill, and spent ten days here. I sailed on June 21 on the Kaiserin August Victoria and intended to spend two years in Europe studying music. I would be in Paris now, taking lessons under Jean de Reszke, but for many reasons, which was so poor that I was forced to return. I got a cablegram from her when I reached London demanding that I return.

Not Called by Jerome.

"I want you to understand that this tragedy had nothing at all to do with my return. I was not called back because of it or by District Attorney Jerome, never had one word from him directly or indirectly. I believe our ship had been at sea five days when the tragedy occurred, though I am not sure of it. We got the news by wireless, and I was as surprised as anybody else, as I had never heard Mr. White speak ill of Mr. Thaw or Mr. Thaw speak ill of Mr. White, and knew of no ill feeling between them.

"In fact I had only a slight speaking acquaintance with Mr. White. No, I never posed for him and did not know that he was an artist. Was he?

"I can't imagine how this story started. I had no time to spend playing pranks when I was in New York preparing to sail because all my time was taken up in packing and visiting my dressmakers.

Would Tell All Gladly.

"If I knew anything at all about this case I would tell it gladly in the interest of Thaw and in the interest of justice."

"I have told Hattie to tell everything she knows, but she has assured me that she knows nothing," interposed Mrs. Forsythe, her mother.

"We have the greatest sympathy for Mrs. Thaw, the mother, and Evelyn Thaw is a very sweet young woman. Hattie would help her if she could, but she knows nothing about the case."

Hattie Forsyth was formerly a waitress in a local restaurant. Her comely looks attracted attention, and she was advised to try the stage. She went to New York, appeared at Weber & Field's in th eformer days of that famous establishment, made a favorable impression and was given a chance in the chorus.

She has done well since. Her portrait has been printed in theatrical papers and magazines, and, while not a star, she has attained a reputation in chorus work.

FALLS 3 STORIES TO SIDEWALK; DEAD

A milkman rushed into the Lagrange Street Station about 1.40 this morning and said that a man had fallen from the third floor of No. 26 Camden street and was dead on the sidewalk.

Patrolman Boppe went over and sent the unfortunate man to the hospital. He died on the way.

Investigation showed that he fell or jumped from the window. His door was locked and there is no motive apparent.

His name is Frederick Nesbit and he has lived there but a month. He is about forty years old

HARVARD OARSMEN FAST GAINING FAVOR

CAMBRIDGE ADMIRERS ARE NONE TOO CONFIDENT OF VICTORY OVER YANKEES.

LONDON, Aug. 10.—That Harvard has a wonderful crew every one who knows anything about rowing in this city admits. The Crimson oarsmen yesterday had their first hard work since their arrival on this side of the Atlantic. They took spins on the river both in the afternoon and the evening, and their accomplishment was almost perfect.

The eight brawny watermen from the Bay State university rowed without the semblance of a splash, so true was their rowing that scarcely a ripple was perceived on the surface of the river as they made their way at a stroke of thirty-one to a minute.

The admirers of the English crew are not over-confident of victory. If the Harvard eight they see an eight of physically perfect, brainy men, whose technique very much resembles that of the native crew. In fact, there are many local rowing fans who think that Harvard's chances of victory are the best, as they have done less rowing this season than Cambridge, which diminishes their aptitude to grow stale.

Interest in the great Harvard-Cambridge race is daily on the increase, and by the time the contest takes place it will probably be considered the most important race that has ever been decided in the world.

When the Harvard crew goes to Putney it is a cinch that their workouts will be witnessed by more crowds who will daily line both sides of the river to note the progress made by the Americans. There is no secret about the training of the Harvard crew, and any one who wishes may observe them in their tryouts.

There is a wide field for betting on the rival crews. The oarsmen can partake of any beverage they desire as it is not fattening, while the Harvard crew's bill of fare is as ridgid as that of a West point cadet on the river.

When the English show signs of staleness they are allowed to drink champagne and beer, a thing that would be regarded with horror by the Americans.

Yesterday was flag day at Pascon villa. The Harvard crew put up a large flag piece of bunting between the stars and stripes and beside it raised the rich crimson flag adorned with a huge "H" in white.

$750 IN ANTI TOXIN TO CURE LOCKJAW

CINCINNATI, O., Aug. 10.—A remarkable tetanus cure has been recorded at the City Hospital. Harry Towers, aged nineteen, was declared out of danger after more than $750 worth of tetanus anti-toxin was used. Towers's hand was injured by a blank cartridge July 4. He was in convulsions when taken to the hospital, and no hope was entertained of his recovery

KISSING SONG WINS SMACKS

By Boston American Leased Wire.

NEW YORK, Aug. 10.—Frank Daniels, the comedian, received a kiss from Nellie Wells, one of the chorus girls, and as Daniels is a known Southerner at Wallack's theatre, Miss Wells was shaking the refrain of a song, which runs: "Wouldn't you like to have a kiss on your birthday?"

Daniels took the petite actress at her word. One of the party of Southerners who had perhaps never been in New York before, then suddenly used the influence of Daniel Boone, the natural diversity and step brother, and in spite of the fact that he had seen him lead grave boy a resounding smack. The curtain was dropped and dentty.

PATIENT TAKES FATAL PLUNGE

SALEM, Aug. 10.—The Board of Health made public today the death of John Kilduff, aged forty-six, who was instantly killed yesterday by jumping from the fourth story of the Contagious Disease Hospital, where he had been confined since last Saturday.

Nurse Mary Phelen had been on duty watching him for four days and nights without sleep, and leaving him apparently asleep entered the room and found he had removed the screen and jumped out of the window to the ground.

She screamed for assistance and rushed down stairs, exclaiming that she thought that Kilduff died instantly from a fractured skull

GET READY TO TELL ALL ABOUT YOUR DIVORCE!

THE CENSUS TAKER AND THE DIVORCEE.

The Census People Are Coming With 18 Questions for Separated Couples to Answer.

Are you ready to tell all about your divorce?

Dr. T. F. Murphy and his corps of four men and nine women from the National Census Bureau are prepared to begin work in a few days in and about Boston, asking eighteen questions about your divorce.

The old "twenty question" game will be tame compared with this divorce quiz. Some of the questions will be so confidential that the government wisely sends out women to question women. But, in case of some masculine assistance being needed, four men are on the job, too.

The census takers are liable to have an interesting time. Imagine going up to a fresh-looking female and handing a calling card that offers the following:

"Are you divorced?"

"Well, what if I am?"

"Whose fault was it?"

"Meanest Man in Suffolk."

"Now, I say, you look here, young woman, I want you to know that my private affairs are no one's business, but if the government has got to know, and if it will help any other poor woman to avoid the miseries of married life and the allies of those brutes of men, I'll tell you that I married the meanest man in Suffolk county to do it. I was sassy too good for him though I say it myself, but when I think of the men I could have married and the other life destiny of an apology for human being as I consent that I did accept in a misguided moment, it makes me kind o' mad. What, that? Well, he got the divorce, but I the court hadn't been pretty clever he wouldn't have gotten it. What was the ground? Well, he said I nagged him, but he don't know I can't afford nagging and would not call a man to death in it was some people would. It was just his fault, you see. Well, she's gone, and I hadn't had her half a year.

"Who Took the Children?"

Or think of a good-looking young man asking a plump and attractive young woman if she was divorced and finding out that she was. Then he will ask her if she had married again.

"No, not yet," says the sweet young thing, deprecatingly. Then the census taker gets interested and asks her if she had any children granted her.

"Six, one," says the divorcee, upon which the census man gets violently interested.

Oh, there's going to be lots of fun in this divorce census.

Then for a sad story of a census taker in Washington who asked a woman who had the children after the divorce and she said:

"They got his and I've got mine and we've each got half of ours."

Back to the Farm.

It seems she was a widow with three children and she was a widower with three and their marriage brought them four more. But the census taker didn't wait to hear it. He hurried back to head quarters and resigned to go back to the farm.

There are a few interesting questions pertinent to the divorce census which would give interesting data:

"Will you marry again if you get a chance?"

"Is divorce a success without a divorce company?"

"I marry no one made in Heaven, where are divorces manufactured?"

"How long have you been South Dakota?"

"Would you get married if divorce was impossible?"

MUNICIPAL ICE PLANT IS ISSUE FOR CAMPAIGN

Special to the Boston American.

HOLYOKE, Aug. 10. The establishment of a municipal ice plant in this city, which is urged in an order from the Board of Aldermen, is to be a campaign issue this Fall. Those who are behind the plan will request every Representative or Senator from this section to pledge himself in favor of the municipal ice plant.

One point in the proposal which it is expected will be waged over the proposition, is the cutting of ice from the water reservoir, which is leased by the city for twenty years to the Holyoke Ice Company.

Holyoke, besides successfully operating one of the finest water systems in the country, has a gas and electric municipal lighting plant. The lighting plant is a great success. In a report for the year ending July 1, the income of the gas works is given as $158,677.20 and the cost of the electric light station as $126,652.26. With all expenses deducted, the figures show a net profit of $36,272.24.

HANDS BANDAGED EIGHT WEEKS

With Bad Case of Eczema—Treatment by Three Doctors Made Them Worse—Grateful New Hampshire Lady Says: "No Matter How Long Any One Has Suffered with Eczema

"CUTICURA REMEDIES WILL CURE IT"

"Three years ago this summer I had a very bad case of eczema in my hands. They were so bad I had to wear them bandaged for eight weeks. I had four different doctors. The first three made them worse. The last one helped them for a little while, but the next summer they broke out worse than ever, and as I had seen Cuticura advertised in the papers a great deal, I thought I would try it. I took the complete treatment of Cuticura Soap, Ointment, and Resolvent. Before I had used one box of Ointment my hands were all smooth again, and now I am doing all the work for four and my hands are all free from eczema, and I cannot say too much in praise for Cuticura. My hair was falling out fast and a few applications of the Ointment stopped it. If there is any part of this letter that would be the means of others trying Cuticura, I am willing you should publish it; as I would like others to be cured as I was; for no matter how long any one has suffered with eczema, Cuticura Remedies will cure it. Yours truly, Mrs. Leon J. Hoyt, Box 402, Bristol, N. H., July 18, 1905."

WHISKEY KILLS TYPHOID GERMS SAYS DOCTOR

Chicago Health Commissioner Popular in Certain Quarters Because of New Idea.

WHICH IS WORSE FOR MEN?

CHICAGO, Aug. 10.—Whiskey is a preventive of typhoid fever, according to Health Commissioner Whalen. Whiskey kills the doctor, is spread only by germs passing from one person to another, and whiskey will kill the germ.

The Health Commissioner's health was toasted in hundreds of highballs tossed off in Chicago today in recognition of his dictum. In Bridgeport and part of the First Ward they say he ought to run for Mayor. In Rogers Park they do not know what to say. Water is local in Rogers Park.

"If there are any typhoid germs in the water that a mug drinks whiskey would kill them," said Dr. Whalen, speaking of the typhoid wave expected before the end of August.

The situation stands like this, if his idea is developed fully:

Water is bad, if it is germy.

Typhoid germs are bad—very bad.

Whiskey is bad for typhoid germs.

many a good germ has gone wrong because of it.

Query 1—Can a man drink enough whiskey to purify the water?

2—Which can stand it the better—the man or the germ?

WOMAN LEAPS TO DEATH FROM HOTEL WINDOW

Body of Mysterious Guest in New Haven Found on Roof of Adjoining Building.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Aug. 10.—A woman who registered at the Aldrich House in this city as Mrs. L. S. Massey, Hartford, Conn., was found dead on the roof of a building next the hotel this morning, having jumped out of the window of her room on the fourth story of the building. Her neck was broken.

The woman and her maid her body had was fully dressed when her body was found. It was noticed when she registered that she had been drinking. She locked her door on the inside of her room. No one came to the hotel with her.

She was about thirty-five years old, had dark brown hair, blue eyes and was well dressed. She had a tattoo mark on her right forearm, showing the letters "S. M." and under this the letters "L. S. D." while opposite this was the date, "June 17, 1897." She wore three cheap rings and had a small diamond ring.

Independent Dealer in Rate Fight

DEFIES STANDARD OIL SCHEME TO CRUSH HIM

MAN WHO FIGHTS STANDARD OIL'S CUT RATE

Trust Cuts Price Only in Places Where Springfield Concern Is Doing Business.

Special to the Boston American.

SPRINGFIELD, Aug. 10.—The Standard Oil Company has made another move in its fight to put the Four Brothers independent Oil Company out of business. Yesterday the wholesale price of kerosene oil was cut 10 cents and one-half cents a gallon in this city and the surrounding towns where the independent company has opened competition. In other towns nearby, where the independent company does not sell oil, the price varies from 9½ cents to 11½ cents.

Thomas L. Hisgin, manager and part owner of the Four Brothers company, said to a BOSTON AMERICAN reporter to-day:

"This latest move on the part of the Standard was unexpected, but it will do little good. Now that the New York, New Haven and Hartford Railroad Company can no longer discriminate in rates, the Standard people are getting worried and are at their old tricks of cutting prices. A general cut, you understand, is not made, but only a cut where we are competing.

"When I learned of the cut in price I visited all of the wholesale dealers I could reach, and everyone I saw agreed to stand by us. We are selling at 8½ cents a gallon and will go no lower. The merchants understand that if we are put out of business the Standard will again have control and will raise the price as it sees fit. This cut in one section illustrates the need of a law prohibiting discrimination on the part of a company in the State. Such a bill will be introduced into the next Legislature."

PRESIDENT SENDS CUTTERS TO SAVE SEALS

The McCulloch Ordered Back to Patrol Islands Where Jap Poachers Were Killed.

REGRET FELT IN JAPAN

WASHINGTON, Aug. 10.—President Roosevelt has approved the recommendation of Acting Secretary Murray that the revenue cutter McCulloch be sent back at once to the Pribilof Islands to cooperate with the Perry in the patrol of the seal fishing waters.

The captain of the McCulloch, to whom instructions were sent by cable late yesterday, is ordered to proceed first to Kejchikan with Solicitor Sims, who will sail from there on a merchant steamer for the United States if he so desires.

The McCulloch will then go to Valdez and take on board Special Agent Lembkey and the witnesses to be brought down from St. Paul and carry them back to the Pribyloffs. On arriving at the islands the McCulloch will act energetically with the Perry in patrol duty, under the added precautionary orders given to the commander of the Perry.

TOKIO, Aug. 10.—The Japanese government does not yet possess any details of the Alaskan incident. The matter is not in a position to express its views. The news is generally received with regret, and the hope is expressed that no unpleasant complications will result.

WOMEN SLAIN IN COLD BLOOD BY GERMANS

LONDON, Aug. 10.—The Rheinische Zeitung publishes a letter from a German soldier who is serving in South Africa, in which he says:

"When scouting one evening our party, consisting of fourteen men and an officer, came to a water pool, about which we saw some black figures hovering. We threw captured them and they proved to be five native women.

"It was not considered advisable to shoot them, as there were known to be two hundred blacks in the neighborhood. At last a soldier suggested that they be bayonetted. The officer forthwith gave orders to that effect, and five of us stood in front of the women and five behind them and stabbed them to death."

ROOSEVELT'S HAND IN WAR ON GAMBLING

Many Think President Back of Higgins in Saratoga Crusade.

RIGID LAW ENFORCEMENT

ALBANY, N. Y., Aug. 10.—The action of Governor Higgins in ordering the suppression of gambling at Saratoga Springs and his declaration of war against gamblers is regarded as an indication, in the opinion of the Rev. A. S. Gregg, who had charge of the crusade in behalf of anti-race track gambling during the session of the last Legislature, that he has received encouragement from President Roosevelt. It develops that the promoters of the crusade against race track gambling petitioned the President a short time ago to use his influence in their behalf in this State.

"The Governor can't reach the bookmakers on the tracks under the present law," says Mr. Gregg, "but a rigid enforcement of the laws against poolrooms and machine games would be the best kind of preparation for legislation touching the gambling features of the racing law. His present attack on gambling requires strong backing from within his party, and the only one who is able to give it is President Roosevelt."

STRIKERS ACCEPT TERMS.

WALTHAM, Aug. 10.—The workmen of the Waltham bleachery, who have been on strike for ten weeks, have voted to accept the company's 5 per cent. raise.

Rockport Plans Gay Time with Admiral Evans's Men

Special to the Boston American.

ROCKPORT, Aug. 10.—With Admiral Evans and his fleet of war vessels again in the harbor, the town has resumed its usual activity. Until the fleet arrived yesterday and even through the night before, a watch was kept up on the Headlands and along the shore. At one time in the bay fully 5,000 people were in the crowd waiting for a sight of the vessels.

Some of the cottagers of the Headlands prepared a saluting cannon and when the dagship Maine came up to her moorings an admirals' salute was given and was returned. As soon as the rest of the fleet arrived all kinds of boats and launches were pressed into service to take people out to them.

The Indiana broke a piston rod about ten miles out, and came in by her port engine. The accident was not serious and a new piston will be placed in one disabled cylinder at once.

The hotels were gay places last night. At the Granite Shore, where many of the wives of officers have been waiting the home coming of the fleet, a reception was given the officers. After an informal dinner an entertainment was given, which was strengthened by some of the talent from Keith's Boston playhouse.

Admiral Evans will give a reception to the townspeople on Tuesday night of next week. The details are in the hands of a committee headed by Judge Sumner B. York.

On Wednesday night, August 15, a minstrel show will be given by men from the fleet. On Thursday night the young people's societies of the various churches here will give a reception to the men of the fleet.

To-morrow night each of the hotels in the place will give a hop in honor of the officers of the ships, and from now on for the next ten days Rockport will be a gay and busy place.

2 DEAD, 2 DYING, OTHERS HURT IN AUTO CRASHES

GRUESOME CHAPTER OF RACING MACHINE FATALITIES IN AND ABOUT NEW YORK.

NEW YORK, Aug. 10.—Two men dead, two women dying and five other persons injured is the record of auto accidents for a night in Greater New York.

NEW YORK, Aug. 10.—Two men of six injured that they were rushed to the New York Hospital, where one of them is dying.

Francis A. Davis, millionaire tobacco manufacturer of Baltimore, is under arrest, charged with having caused the tragedy. The front wheels of the motor car he was driving leaped over the curb on to the sidewalk, ran over one of the girls and pinioned her to the sidewalk, the mud guard threw the other victim ten feet and caused her to roll over the pavement, while hundreds of persons looked on, too startled to lend immediate aid.

A pathetic phase of the story is that one of the young women, Miss Grace Hyers, eighteen, a stenographer in a New York bank, had begun her vacation by visiting her chum, Miss Margaret Bellwood, nineteen, an actress, living at No. 351 West Twenty-seventh street, and who was with her, and that Mr. and Mrs. Davis had just begun their annual outing by taking an automobile trip.

FIRE PURCHASE GRAFT PROBE ON IN TAUNTON

Accusation Made in Board of Aldermen That City Has Been Robbed.

TAUNTON, Aug. 10.—In accordance with a charge of graft preferred by Alderman A. S. Paige, a committee of five was appointed at a meeting of the Board of Aldermen last night to investigate the Committee on Fire Department, especially in relation to the purchase of 1,000 feet of hose.

Alderman Paige, when informed that $1 per foot was paid for 1,000 feet, declared: "Then they robbed the city, because I can purchase fire hose for from 43½ to 47½ two cents a foot."

Aldermen Kenney and Flood of the committee responded with a denial that there was anything wrong with the purchase, and characterized the charges made by Paige as "gallery talk" made for political purposes.

The accused committee consists of Aldermen Kenney and Flood and Councilmen Bellamy, Clapp and Brady.

AUTO COLLISION INJURES THREE, ONE FATALLY

NEW YORK, Aug. 10.—Mrs. Howard, forty years old, of Richmond, Va., was fatally injured in an automobile accident here last night. Mrs. Howard, in company with Miss Margaret Evans, seventy years old, and Stuart Elliott, twenty-one years, were travelling on Jerome avenue when their automobile ran into Mounted Policeman Thomas F. Smith.

The policeman and his horse were sent spinning, and the two women were thrown from the auto. Elliott retained his hold on the steering wheel and escaped injury. The three victims of the accident were hurried to Fordham Hospital. Miss Evans was not seriously injured, but Mrs. Howard's injuries are such that she is not expected to live. She sustained a fracture of the skull and internal injuries. The policeman sustained a fractured skull.

SOMERVILLE GIRLS TO RUN CHURCH PICNIC

Big Outing of St. Ann's Parish To-morrow in Young Women's Charge.

GOOD LIST OF SPORTS

The girls of St. Ann's parish, Winter Hill, Somerville, are to be the principal people in evidence at the third annual picnic of St. Ann's Sunday School, to be held in conjunction with the annual parish field day at Combination Park, Medford, to-morrow.

The picnic committee is composed of girls. The girls are to have not only as many sports as the boys, but sports just as athletic and exciting. They are to play baseball, run races of all kinds and shows generally that a girl is just as clever and able as any boy ever dared to be. The girls of the parish are as demure as any girl should be, but they propose to show that the boys have no monopoly of prowess or executive ability.

Miss Mary McIntyre is general manager of the picnic committee. Miss Isabel Jacobs, Miss Grace Harrington and Miss May E. Sullivan are assistant managers. Miss Annie Donovan is chairman of the committee on sports. Miss Mabel King is chairman of the Children of Mary's table. Miss Cecile E. Giroux is chairman of the finance committee.

Both the girls and the boys of the parish and the elders as well are looking forward to a splendid time at the picnic, no possibility of rain being the only fear.

The programme comprises the following events for girls: Baseball game between high and grammar school misses; 100-yard dash for girls under fifteen and another for girls over fifteen; 50-yard dash for girls under twelve; potato race, sack race, three-legged race, egg race, bean bag contest for girls under twelve, relay interclass race of grammar school girls, relay interclass race for high school girls.

The following are the events scheduled for boys: Baseball game between the Knights of the Sacred Heart and the altar boys, tug-of-war contest, standing and running broad jumps, standing and running high jumps, standing and running hop, step and jump, potato race, sack race, three-legged race, 100-yard dash, quarter and half-mile runs, relay races.

WOULDN'T IT JAR YOU!

If you were a pretty young art student—and a young man kept courting you and telling you how he adored you—and you finally began to feel that you loved him—and at last you agreed to be his own darling little wife—and then just as soon as you were married you found he would not kiss you nor pet you, but said he only loved your soulful intellect—wouldn't it make you mad?

GEORGE JUNIOR REPUBLIC HAS A ROCKEFELLER

"Citizen No. 3," Aged 15, Soon Gathers in All the Capital.

OTHERS ARE FLAT BROKE

WATERBURY, Ct., Aug. 10.—The George Junior Republic at Litchfield exists to demonstrate to certain boys the advantages of a model state. Freed from selfish ambitions and glorified by taxation, a boy afflicted with a capitalistic mania for himself a few months becomes a financier who would probably have one of the most cherished theories of the institution to appropriating to himself a fortune which is not pulled down within the boundaries of the republic.

There are twenty boys from the East Side of New York in the community, which, as a mayor, chief of police, board of health and other officials. There are no women. No boy may eat or sleep without work, but he may choose his occupation and, in order that he may acquire the money committed to accumulate. The latter is a provision to prevent this organization from becoming dangerous.

No. 3 Has All the Capital.

Everything went well until the arrival of citizen No. 3—they have no kings in the Utopian realm—who has a sharp mind and grew to fifteen years, most of them spent in the highly utilitarian neighborhood of Avenue A. He chose to be a capitalist. Now it is found that the enterprising lad gathered unto himself $50 in cash. Also he has deposited in the republic's bank not to mention some $30 worth of personal property. The rest of the republic has nothing. No. 3 has it all, and the grown-up authorities don't quite see how they can make him disgorge.

When No. 3 became a citizen he had in cash capital of twenty cents. This he promptly lent to citizens of the furnace class with a weakness for such confections as are sold at the Litchfield stores.

A Standard Oil Type.

He charged fine rates of interest and proved himself a born collector. Citizens who were backward in their payments received reproof sufficiently stern to land them in the hospital. No. 3 turned his money over and over again, meantime practicing all the virtues at his job in the candy shop and winning a reputation as a representative citizen. Delinquent debtors, who are serious trouble supervising, finally gave the snap away.

"That may be a smart boy, admit the grown-up officials, "but he doesn't really belong in a model republic. He belongs in Standard Oil."

CHINESE DELICACY, LIZARDS, CHEAPER

WASHINGTON, Aug. 10.—Dried lizards will hereafter be admitted to this country free, according to a decision by the United States Circuit Court, under the Dingley tariff act. This will reduce the cost of this Chinese delicacy, which is used mostly for making syrups with which to dose sick Mongolians and drive out the devils.

"JOHN THE ORANGEMAN" NEAR DEATH AT HOSPITAL

"JOHN THE ORANGEMAN."

Famous Harvard mascot, who is now critically ill at the Massachusetts General Hospital, where he has undergone a serious operation.

John Lovett, or John the Orangeman, as he is known in Boston and Cambridge, is as well as to every student who has attended Harvard University in the last fifty years, is hovering to-day between life and death in the Massachusetts General Hospital, where he has just undergone a dangerous operation. John Lovett is receiving care that money would not buy, for several of the physicians at the hospital who are attending him were accustomed in the years which have gone by when they were students at Harvard to purchase oranges and other fruits from the aged man.

John Lovett, who is seventy-seven years of age, has been a familiar figure in Cambridge, and especially at Harvard, where he eked out a goodly living through his sales of fruits to the varsity men. He has become as distinctive a landmark, as there, as any of the venerable buildings in the classic enclosure.

Lovett was born in Kennere, County Kerry, Ireland, and was one of a family of ten children. He was but a boy when he emigrated to America. Almost at the beginning of his life in the United States he started into business as a retail fruit peddler at Harvard, and he has been so popular and successful that it is student tradition that John the Orangeman is well supplied with this world's goods. However that may be, for students in need of a small loan, until their check from home come ever approached John in vain.

He was so well thought of and respected by the students for his quick wit, warm heart and good sense that he came to take the place of an official mascot for Harvard. He became noted for his ability as a singer of American and Irish songs, and last Winter he made his first essay in an actor, when he appeared in New York, in the Princess Theatre in "Brown of Harvard." He scored a hit, and a declined one at that.

BOSTON UNIONS IN BIG PARADE OF ABSTAINERS

Temperance Workers March in Blaze of Red Fire at Providence.

OFFICERS FOR THE YEAR

Special to the Boston American.

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Aug. 10.—When the parade of the Catholic Total Abstinence Union of America marched through the principal streets of the city last evening the thoroughfares were lined with people and the pathway of the parades was lined with red fire. The decoration along the line of march was on an elaborate scale. The ranks contained a number of clergymen and their presence created great interest in the crowds.

The Boston Division was well represented in the parade by societies from East Cambridge and Roxbury. The St. Patrick's Society sent the members and the Ninth Regiment fife, drum and bugle corps. The Cambridge society sent a finely drilled body of men, known as the Sacred Heart Pioneer Corps, and company A of the C. T. A. U. Regiment, both of which were led by Reccord's military band of Rhode Island. The Cleary Guards were greeted enthusiastically along the line.

The women's societies had a floating pole in carriages and included members of St. Patrick's of Roxbury, Our Lady of Matthews of East Cambridge, Hibernian Total Abstinence Association and the All Saints Society of Roxbury. The Roxbury Footer Club was under the command of the Rev. Maurice F. Flynn and John M. Devlin, the president. The Western societies showed up strong, as also did the societies from the South. A rally in Infantry Hall followed the parade.

The afternoon session of the convention opened at 2:30 o'clock. The principal business was the election of officers for the ensuing term, which resulted as follows:

President, Rt. Rev. J. J. Regis Canevin, Pittsburg; first vice-president, Rev. J. J. Curran, Wilkesbarre, Pa.; second vice-president, Rev. Austin J. O'Toole, Providence; third vice-president, Mrs. M. Lake, St. Louis; treasurer, Rev. James F. Coffee, St. Louis; secretary, J. Washington Logue, Philadelphia.

The Priests' Temperance League elected the Rev. Walter Shanley of Connecticut president and Rev. John Lamberg of Scottdale, Pa., secretary. The league comprises 200 priests. The convention will close to-day with a trip to Rocky Point and Newport, where a banquet will be tendered the delegates.

MORTAR LIFE LINE PLAN SCOFFED AT

ATLANTIC CITY, Aug. 10.—Beach Surgeon Beckwith of the life guard corps states that the proposal to place mortars along the strand to shoot life lines to drowning bathers is not only impracticable, but foolish. "It would be easier to catch a bird by sprinkling salt on it. The time taken to load, aim and shoot a mortar would be enough time for the bather to sink forever."

GIRL ARRESTED AS HOTEL 'BEAT'

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Aug. 10.—Charged with failure to pay a hotel bill of $47.60—a criminal offence under the New Jersey "anti-hotel beat" law—Miss Viola Sondheim, the young and pretty stepdaughter of a wealthy lace manufacturer of New York, was placed under arrest while in tears for release, but would have been locked up except for the intervention of friends who called her mother by telephone and obtained a guarantee of the bill. The management claimed the girl had a $10 a day room and left without taking a suit case, which was found to be empty.

Friends of the girl assert that she had merely exceeded her allowance and was waiting for money.

ACTOR'S $500 NOW LIKE 30C

"I want my money. I need it bad," is now the favorite topical song, and Edward J. Ratcliff, once leading man for Nance O'Neil is humming it sadly, as he thinks of his $500 and his latest adventure in the law courts.

Two years ago he sued his co-partner, Nance O'Neil, to prevent her playing under the management of John B. Schoeffel, and he lost.

He then tried to recover $500 owing him but found that the very injunction he had secured prevented Mr. Schoeffel from giving it to him.

Then he brought more suits and invariably lost until one day his new lawyers had the injunction modified.

Joyfully Mr. Ratcliffe advanced to the bank yesterday to get his $500, only to discover that it had been trusted by his lawyers in the early suits, and that they had filed a new action against him for $2,000 for legal services.

Now the actor is wondering if it wouldn't be better for him to whisper a fond farewell to his $500, and forget it.

RESCUES TWO ROXBURY GIRLS

HOLDERNESS, N. H., Aug. 10.—Miss Isabelle Cairns and Miss Catherine Lynch of Roxbury capsized from a canoe in Squam Lake yesterday and were heroically rescued by E. A. Herr, a Dartmouth student.

The accident happened about 100 yards from shore. Herr swam to Miss Lynch and took her to the shore.

When he reached Miss Cairns she was sinking. He seized her and took her to the shore, where she was resuscitated.

STRIKE TIES UP 6,000 CARS

NEW YORK, Aug. 10.—The strike of the tugboat firemen and deckhands is still unbroken, and 6,000 freight cars are tied up in the Jersey City terminal of the affected railroads. A shortage in perishable food seems inevitable unless the strike is quickly broken.

Managers of the marine departments of the big railroad systems are quick to deny that anything like a food famine is in prospect, but they do not attempt to deny that the situation is serious.

1600 LEAGUERS IN CONVENTION

By Boston American Leased Wire.

NEW YORK, Aug. 10.—The State convention of the Independence League will open at Carnegie Hall, in this city, at noon, Tuesday, September 11. Pursuant to the resolution adopted at the recent meeting of the State committee, each county will be entitled to one delegate for every one thousand voters or major fraction thereof cast for Governor in the general election of 1904. Under this ratio there will be something more than sixteen hundred delegates.

The work of organizing is being rapidly pushed throughout the State, and a strong permanent organization, with a full roster of local officers, has been established in all but a few counties.

BOOM SINCLAIR 'HOME COLONY'

By Boston American Leased Wire.

NEW YORK, Aug. 10.—The plans for the Home Colony, as devised by Upton Sinclair, author of "The Jungle," are coming to a head, and a meeting will be held Sunday afternoon in the West Fifty-seventh street branch of the Y. M. C. A. to receive the $10 applications for membership.

The purpose of the Home Colony is to simplify the domestic problem. Upon the physical side its ideal will be the utmost economy consistent with beauty, cleanliness and efficiency of administration.

In their intellectual, social and spiritual life its members desire to be let alone. Residence in the colony will involve no social obligations whatever, and there should be

'MIKE' MASCOT FOR CHURCHILL AT BIG RALLY

Wife of Author-Candidate Brings Family Pet to Peterboro Gathering.

THE MOVEMENT IS GAINING

Special to the Boston American.

PETERBORO, N. H., Aug. 10.—Winston Churchill, managing the campaign in favor of his candidate for governor, spent a pleasant day at his cousin's home, Daniel Lathrop of Dublin, previous to the rally last night.

Mrs. Churchill joined him and brought Mike, Mr. Churchill's favorite house dog, an Irish terrier of rare pure-bloodedness. The dog was raised by Mr. Carlin and was a gift to Mr. Churchill.

Mike proved to be the mascot at the opera house, which was well filled with both men and women anxious to both see and hear the celebrated author.

Candidate Churchill received the usual ovation when he appeared on the platform with D. C. Remick of Littleton and Ezra Smith of Peterboro, who introduced Mr. Churchill. The author was obliged to wait several minutes before he could speak, on account of the applause.

Colonel Churchill was of course the central figure, but D. C. Remick came in for almost as much appreciation for his ability as a campaign speaker is growing. He kept his listeners' attention by his pointed remarks, which he directed by his terror of oratorical expressions and gesture.

It is growing evident that the Lincoln Club movement and Winston Churchill's candidacy for Governor is gaining a strong foothold in the State, and the enthusiasm in the many places in which rallies have been held is much more in favor of Churchill.

Keene is the next stop where Harry C. Sergeant of Concord was invited to speak, but he cannot attend and D. C. Remick will be one of the speakers with Mr. Churchill.

NEWS OF LABOR.

Coleman Brothers, who have been awarded the contract for the new section of the subway at Harvard square, have agreed to employ none but union engineers, it was reported to President A. M. Haddell of Hoisting and Portable Engineers' Union at last night's meeting. This firm it was also reported, is coupling with all the specifications of the eight hour law in the construction of the sewer on Mill street.

Arrangements were completed for the Labor Day parade. It is expected that 5000 men will be in line. A. M. Haddell will be chief marshal and George Barry assistant marshal. The aids will be A. E. Pike, James Mullaly, Richard Stanton, Wiley Harvey and Frank Glennon.

FOSTER BANQUET BIG EVENT.

Probably one of the most representative labor gatherings ever held in this city will be that at the banquet to Frank K. Foster of Boston Typographical Union No. 13 previous to his departure for Europe to attend as delegate the British Trades Congress.

The banquet, which will be held at the Quincy House next Wednesday night, will be attended by Mayor John F. Fitzgerald, James Duncan, first vice president of the American Federation of Labor, and many other prominent men. Martin T. Joyce, president of Boston Central Labor Union, will be toastmaster. Regrets for the banquet may be made to John N. Ewing, 10 Clarendon street, by next Monday night.

C. L. U. MEETS TO-NIGHT.

Every delegate is requested to attend the special meeting of the Central Labor Union to-night at Wells Memorial Hall to act on an important matter relative to the Labor Day parade.

The meeting of the Boston Wage Farners' Council that has been postponed until next Friday night.

UNION WILL GIVE PRIZES.

The order of Railway Telegraphers, not satisfied with its almost phenomenal growth of the past two or three years, has adopted a plugger method of further increasing its membership. The general officers of the order have offered a series of prizes, open to individuals, lodges and individual members aggregating $1,500. The prizes will be awarded on a competitive basis, for the most new members taken into the order before December 31, 1906.

The prizes range in value from $200 to $25. Prizes will also be awarded for the divisions showing the smallest and next to smallest per cent of membership during the term from July 1, 1906, to December 31, 1906.

LABOR NOTES.

Five dollars has been contributed by the Patrol Makers' Association to the campaign fund of the American Labor Union.

West Roxbury Carpenters' Union No. 868 held a meeting last night at Eliot Hall, Roslindale, to discuss connection at Tremont.

Brockton Boot and Shoe Workers' Union and Metal Lathers' Union will be Labor Day guests.

Organizers Evans, N. 97 and Hall, N. 1000, are interesting Lynn men in the Labor Day parade.

To-day Marshal Jay Burns elected to represent Boston Typographical Union No. 13 at the national convention of the craft in New York next Monday.

The Somerville Wage Earners' Club holds an important meeting to-night at Odd Fellows' Hall, Union square, Somerville.

OUTCAST SON OF MILLIONAIRE JAILED FOR PASSING BAD CHECKS

Do I know Harry Thaw? Why, I have known him all my life. When I was in New York the other day my brother and I were thinking of going up to see him, but we decided not to because the reporters would have found out about it and written it up. And now I am behind about as substantial bars as Harry.—George Rafferty, son of Pittsburg millionaire, jailed for passing worthless checks.

Strangers Raise Bail for Release After Efforts in Other Directions Failed.

By Boston American Leased Wire.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 10.—George B. Rafferty, son of Gilbert T. Rafferty, the rich coal operator of Pittsburg, whose wife recently sued her father-in-law for $500,000 for alienating his affections, has been released from jail, where he was held for obtaining money by false pretenses.

Specifically, Rafferty was accused of passing two checks, one for $10 and one for $5, on A. C. Appler and Joseph Waddell, druggists of this city, both of which transactions he freely admits.

Neither of the men who cashed the checks insisted upon prosecuting Rafferty. All that they demanded, according to the statement of the police, was that the checks be made good.

But Rafferty, although the son of a man reported to be worth $20,000,000, was compelled to linger in jail until to-day, when his efforts to raise $15 having failed, a bond newspaper came to his aid with the money necessary. The checks redeemed, the prisoner was released.

The young man, who seemed to be much the worse for wear, immediately telegraphed his father, who is Summering in the Thousand Islands, telling of his release and asking for money with which to journey West.

Rafferty was arrested yesterday at Fort Myer, where he had been spending a week with former comrades of Troop G, Thirteenth Cavalry.

Clears Father of Blame.

When interviewed to-day behind the bars of the Seventh Precinct Police Station he denied that his father had alienated his affections from Mrs. George Rafferty, who recently sued her father-in-law for $500,000 damages.

"That suit does not amount to anything," he said with a laugh. "My father didn't alienate my affections from my wife. I married her when I was a youngster, and only lived with her a short time. She won't get any of my father's money. While I understand that she has been in Pittsburg a good deal to the last few years I have only seen her once since I left her in 1901."

"Do I know Harry Thaw?" he replied to a question. "Why, I have known him all my life. His family lived only about a quarter of a mile from where we lived in Pittsburg. When I was in New York the other day my brother and I were thinking of going to see him, but we decided not to, because the reporters would have found out about it and written it up. And now I am behind about as substantial bars as Harry."

Cast Out by Father.

George B. Rafferty last spring broke public notice through the rapidity of his courtship and wedding to Deborah McIntyre, a society photographer, much his senior. The young man was twenty years old then and his father cast him out.

Behind the suit brought by Mrs. Rafferty against the elder Rafferty lies a schoolboy romance, the disinheritance of a son, the dissolution of a wife's home, threats and charges by her that she was maltreated, and an alleged love affair by Mrs. Friends that the night appear ridiculous.

It appears to be the case of another rich young man from the Smoky City seeing the wind and reaping the whirlwind, only in a less disastrous degree than Harry Thaw.

Five years ago Miss Deborah McIntyre practiced her mother in the photographic studio at Alexandria Bay, N. Y. She was strikingly attractive and added to her natural charms by the study of music in Boston for several years.

Schoolboy Fell in Love.

At that time George B. Rafferty was a schoolboy in an academy on the Hudson. Although he was only getting an allowance of $30 a month at this time from his wealthy father, his poverty did not prevent him from falling in love with the pretty girl of the studio.

The couple were married on the quiet by a country squire at Clayton, N. Y., on October 28, 1903. Then the elder Rafferty heard of the romance he cut off the $30 a month allowance. Then young Rafferty hired helping his wife's folks take pictures.

John and Allen Rafferty then came upon the scene. They were from this city and friends of young Rafferty and his family. As a result of what happened young Mrs. Rafferty sued John Rafferty for $25,000.

According to the allegations set forth by Mrs. Rafferty, Hayden had come to her with the request for a private hearing concerning that Mrs. Rafferty owed him important message. They went downtown together and had luncheon in a restaurant. It was there, said Mrs. Rafferty, that Hayden told her that "there was $15,000 left for him if he could influence her to leave her husband." Mrs. Rafferty further averred in her complaint that Hayden offered to divide this sum with her in consideration of her compliance. This she indignantly refused to do. Then, she says, Hayden gave her the divorce case and caused her to make a spectacle of herself on the streets.

Case Was Dropped.

When the case against Hayden came to court the complaint was demurred to on the ground that it did not contain facts sufficient to constitute a cause of action. The case, after much legal sparring, was quietly dropped.

Immediately after the filing of the suit against Hayden his wife, Frank Raf[illegible] dropped out of sight. His parents heard from him in the Philippines, whither he had gone as a private in the infantry. Rafferty served the full term of his enlistment and was honorably discharged. Since his return he has lived apart from his wife.

He is in jail for passing two worthless checks, and she is suing his millionaire father for $500,000, charging that he has alienated her husband's affections.

GERMANS BEAT DREADNAUGHT

Special Cable to Boston American.

BERLIN, Aug. 10.—Encouraged state[illegible] not a[illegible] have been current since the beginning of the month that the large German battleships, which are to be laid down this year, are to have a displacement of 19,000 tons, instead of 18,000, as at first proposed, and a speed of 19.5 knots. The new lesser cruisers will, it is said, have a displacement of 15,000 tons and a speed of 25.5 knots.

The German naval journal says the main armament of the new battleships is to consist of sixteen 28-centimeter Krupp guns, as compared with ten 30.5-centimeter guns on the British Dreadnaught.

JOHN D. BALKS AT WATER BILL

CLEVELAND, Aug. 10.—John D. Rockefeller, th[illegible] man who had hundreds of miles of pipe lines laid to avoid paying railroad rates on his oil, is now having a well dug in the Rockefeller building here. He hopes to strike water enough to furnish the tenants of the big building. Then he will cut off the city water.

Today workmen are digging in a forty foot hole in the basement of the seventeen story building. When the free water of the earth is located the expensive supply which the city furnishes from Lake Erie will end. It's too expensive, any way, and besides, some of the rooms in the big building are not bringing in rental returns.

ATE A RESTAURANT TO A STANDSTILL

ST. PROBUSBURG, Pa., Aug. 10.—Charles George, an employe of the United States Express Company, on a wager last evening ate nine hamburger steaks, three pies, three sandwiches, three frankfurters and drank six cups of coffee and a glass of milk. He then ran around the block—down two hours ahead of schedule time on account of a[illegible] supply of edibles.

BATHERS SCARED BY DEAD SHARK

ATLANTIC CITY, Aug. 10.—A section of the beach here received a scare when bathers off Arkansas avenue saw a shark in the water close to them. An alarm was given and all scurried to the shore. The guards went out to destroy the shark and found it was dead. They brought it ashore. It measured twelve feet.

LOOK! BARKERS HAVE NEW ONE AT WONDERLAND

It Makes Heads' Spin in as Many Directions as There Are Joints in Neck.

MLLE LOUBET HURT AGAIN

"Look! Look! Look!"

The "barker" has a new cry, and it's a winner. It's sound new and originated down in Wonderland. To hear him yell means that you will turn your head many ways.

Only a few days ago, when a new barker "blew" into Wonderland, did the forest commence. It isn't necessary to listen, for every show has its barker, and every barker has his favorite line of talk to draw in the crowd, and this slogan can be heard from Ferrari's animal show at the Boulevard end of Wonderland to the Wild West Show and Hell Gate at the other.

Judging from the number of people who have been to Wonderland so far this week it gives evidence of being a record breaker for crowds. Four fine days have brought the crowd out as if autumn had come before, and with to-night and to-morrow favored by "old Sol" the figures will be higher than any Wonderland of delail ever expected.

Many new additions have been made during the past few days to the Fire and Flames production. The scenes in the streets preceding the fire have been revised, and a realistic Wild West battle takes place between a policeman and a robber.

Mlle. Loubet met with another accident yesterday afternoon in the "Dip of Death." The little car rolled along on two wheels instead of four after it left the loop and overturned before it had gone many feet. She was bruised and shaken, but was able to walk to the centre of the lagoon and bow to the audience. She will be at the park for one more week.

The Judgement of Millions of Bright Americans is Infallible. They have been Buying and Taking Cascarets at that rate for over Six years.

Over Five Millions of Dollars have been Spent to make the merits of Cascarets known, and every cent of it would be lost, did not sound merit claim and hold the confidence and unending Patronage and Endorsement of well-pleased people year after year.

* * *

There is also a Reason—

Why there are Parasites who attach themselves to the Healthy Body of Cascaret's success—Imitators, Counterfeiters, Substitutors.

They are Trade Thieves who would rob Cascarets of the "Good Will" of the people, and sneak unearned profits, earned and paid for by Cascarets.

A Dishonest Purpose means a Dishonest Product and a Disregard of the Purchasers' Health or Welfare.

Beware of the Sick Salesman and his ancient "Just as Good" story that common sense refutes.

Cascarets are made only by the Sterling Remedy Company, and put up in metal box with the "long-tailed C" on the cover. They are never sold in bulk.

Every tablet marked "CCC."

Be sure you get the genuine.

If yesterday's game may be taken as a criterion, there will be another sterling diamond battle at the South End grounds this afternoon, when the Cardinals and the Tenneyites line up in their second battle.

The home team yesterday did not miss the services of Manager Tenney, as Brown, who took his boss's place on the initial bag sack, covered the base, with one exception, in clever style.

He was also instrumental in the scoring of Boston's only run.

Higgenbotham, from the Coast League, may do the twirling for the Cardinals to-day, while Lindaman may do the honors for the home club.

Yesterday's game, which resulted in favor of the visitors, 2 to 1, ten innings, was close and interesting to the end.

Karger, a left-hander, did the twirling for the visitors, while Dorner battled well for Boston.

Neither side threatened to score until the eighth, when Karger, with two down, drove the ball over the fence.

In their half the Boston team tied the score. Strobel walked, Dorner sacrificed, Bridwell was thrown out by Karger, Strobel going to third. Brown singled to centre, scoring the lightning fielding baseman. Brain walked, but Bates flew out to Bennett.

The first two men up for the Cardinals in the ninth got scratch singles, but the next three men were easy outs.

In the tenth Marshall's fly was dropped by Bates. Crawford sacrificed. Brain threw wild to first on Karger's grounder and Brown threw wild to the plate, Marshall scoring.

Strobel opened the tenth with a single to right. Dorner flied to Burch. Strobel was fooled by second on Bridwell's grounder. Phyle to Bennett. Brown grounded to Grady.

ALFALFA, 2:06¼, IS SOLD FOR $10,000

The noted pacing mare Alfalfa, 2:06¼, with a long list of victories to her credit, has been sold by J. C. Pender to H. Y. Hawes of Johnstown, Pa., for the reported sum of $10,000. The latter at one time owned the famous pacing stallion Joe Patchen, 2:01¾.

Alfalfa came very near being the property of the Dorchester horseman, Walter J. Bates. Last Winter she was entered to be sold at auction in Indianapolis, and Trainer Dick Lawrence interested Mr. Bates to go West and buy her for him to campaign this season. It was thought that $4,000 would be sufficient to bring her East.

Mr. Bates fell in with the scheme, and on the Saturday preceding the sale, with everything in readiness to take the journey but meeting a friend, was talked out of the proposition, instead buying the trotting stallion Bingaling. Bingaling, Alfalfa was knocked down in the auction for $3,800; J. E. Bronson of New Haven being the buyer. In the Spring he sold her to Mr. Pender for a good advance, Mr. Bates without the hoppies.

In Bingaling Mr. Bates got a good trotter, but he has, too, wanted to own a fast pacing article capable of going into deep water, and on that account, and Lawrence's, also, it is too bad Alfalfa was permitted to pass by.

HAMILTON IS ABOUT ALL IN

HAVERHILL, Aug. 10.—Billy Hamilton has retired from baseball for the rest of the season anyway.

He resigned from the Haverhill team last night and his resignation was accepted, the ex-leaguer leaving for his home at Clinton to-day to lay up for the rest of the season. Hamilton has been playing with the local team for several weeks, but has not been in form and says that he is "all in" this year anyway.

O'DAY REINSTATED.

NEW YORK, Aug. 10.—It was announced by President Pulliam of the National League yesterday that Umpire Henry O'Day, who was fined $50 for not preserving the fight between players McGinnity of New York and Reitz of Philadelphia on the grounds of the latter club recently, has been restored to good standing on the staff of umpires, and will resume duty to-day.

SOX SIGN PITCHER.

CHICAGO, Aug. 10.—President Charles A. Comiskey of the White Sox has signed Pitcher Cheney of the Bartlesville, Kan., State League team for 1907. Cheney is considered a comer in that league, and has won nineteen of the twenty-three games he has pitched this season.

WORCESTER, Aug. 10.—Nearly fifty shells are gathered on the shores of Lake Quinsigamond for the thirty-fourth regatta of the National Association to begin to-day at 2 o'clock. The list includes several present champions as well as those who have won in past years, while the oarsmen have come here from all parts of North America including Halifax, Toronto, Winnipeg and Portland, Ore.

The lake, which has been the scene of many similar events in the series of races between Harvard and Yale in 1859, has been well boomed, and early this morning nearly all the oarsmen were out in their shells for practice runs, the weather and water conditions being perfect.

The officials of the local association have been in the city several days, and final arrangements for the regatta were perfected last evening.

The principal event to-day will be the two heats in the association senior single sculls, in which eleven of the fastest men have entered. The finals in this event will be rowed to-morrow, and the winner will have the right to enter the champion ship event later that day.

There are two entries for the champion ship in single sculls, Fred Shepheard of the Sewanhaka Boat Club of Brooklyn, and C. S. Titus of the Nonpareil Rowing Club of New York. The officials of the association threw out the entry of E. B. Greer, the present champion of the Boston Athletic Association, as he had not been a member of that club a sufficient length of time, under the rules.

The regatta will begin with the race for four-oared shells at 3 o'clock to-day, and there are nine events on the programme for the two days, the eight oared shells closing the last day's racing, to-day and Saturday.

The committee have made every effort to insure the oarsmen a clear course, which should settle the question of a successful regatta.

The order of events for to-day's racing is as follows:

3 p. m.—Intermediate four-oared shell.
3:20—First heat, intermediate singles.
3:40 p. m.—Second heat intermediate singles.
4:20—Second heat senior fours.
4:40—First heat association singles.
5 p. m.—Second heat senior fours.
5:20—Second heat association singles.
5:40—Intermediate eight-oared race.

Saturday's programme is as follows: Intermediate pair-oared, association senior singles, finals senior fours, intermediate pair-oared, final intermediate singles, championship singles, final international fours, senior doubles, senior eights.

Last evening the executive committee had a meeting at which some minor business was cleaned up so that there would be plenty of time for the consideration of the important troubles that will be introduced at to-night's annual meeting.

There promises to develop a stiff fight for the office of executive committeeman from New England. James Coogan of Springfield is making a hard canvass and believes that he will have secured enough votes to win over P. H. Hurley of Worcester. Hurley has allowed his friends to make his fight for him, with the result that there are at present eleven votes for Coogan to seven for Hurley. The mail vote of clubs still to be received, will be counted.

TAD WARNS PUGS: "BEWARE OF COMSTOCK"

BY TAD.

Mr. Anthony Comstock raided the publishing office of an art students' magazine the other day and copped thousands of issues of said magazine because there was in his mind, unfit to be seen. They contained many drawings from life, and many things which were not according to A's standard of art.

It would be kind of tough on the fighters and those who illustrate the fistic affairs if he got Jerry to thinking, and what would be do if he swooped off Jeff and Fitz stripped for action? Or the big fat Plaito and Ed Dunkhorst? Only a pair of tents!

He might kick in at that and send the order out for more clothes in ring encagements. Fitz would have to wear a bonnet, pack a bun waist and bloomers. Lil Artha Johnson would enter the ring with a dark veil and tuxedo suit.

It would be a fearful bunch of trouble for fighters in training, too. After the big roadwork and the boxing in the gym they wouldn't be allowed to take the shower unless properly clothed. Nothing, less than a diving suit could be worn there, but then it might soak through at that.

Gans and Nelson would look swell in the ring dressed up like two society swells.

Morley and Robinson, who meet next Monday night at Philadelphia, might take the ring and the other boys can do the fights or trunks you might be called yourself, boys.

The mothers of prize fighters do more worrying probably than the fighters themselves during the progress of a battle.

Jack Attell tells this story of his mother, but she had studied her family to a T.

There are three boys, Jim Fighters, Abe Cuesar and Monte. Abe is game, he will take it and hand out more than he's belonged up for, but Monte is one of the scrappiest kids that ever lived and invariably comes home with a bum glim, which always worries his mother. Almost EVERY had a black eye. If Cuesar can't win surely he gently rolls over on the carpet and lets Abe feed. He is the most nothous quitter in the West, and Abe has picked for about five years to keep Cuesar out of the game.

He put the proposition up with the mother, however, but Abe lams the life out of him.

Mrs. Attell is speaking of her sons says: "When Abe gets I sit up and worry and worry and wait to hear the returns. I'm afraid he is hurt. When Monte gets it I sit and wonder how he is getting along. I think of his broken nose and bleeding face when fights I go to bed and sleep. KNOW he won't be hurt.

BRITT—HANLON MATCH.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 10.—The Bulletin to-day says that Jimmy Britt and Eddie Hanlon have been matched for a ten-round bout on Aug. 30. None of the details of the match have as yet been given out.

GANS AND NELSON IN DAYLIGHT BATTLE

GOLDFIELD, Nev., Aug. 10.—Shortly before midnight, and after three hours of wrangling, Billy Nolan, representing Battling Nelson, and Joe Gans signed articles to fight on Labor Day. Nolan claimed everything but the earth for his fighter, and finally Gans, fearing that the match was about to fall through, agreed to accept the division of the $30,000 purse whether he won or lost the battle. Nelson, on the other hand, will receive $20,000 in any event. All day long the obstinate Billy Nolan declared that there would be no fight unless Nelson's share of the purse was $22,500 or 75 per cent. Poor Gans, before midnight, and after three hours of pleading for a division on a sixty and a forty to lesser per cent basis, but Nolan would not listen to him.

About 8 o'clock Ira Rickards, representing the club, Nolan representing Nelson, and Gans, on his own behalf, met in the private office of John S. Cook, where Nolan finally gave in and the articles were signed.

The articles stipulate that it shall be a finish fight, the men to weigh under 133 pounds at 12 o'clock or 1:30 o'clock, and not more than 133 pounds at 3 o'clock. The fight will be called at 3:30 o'clock on the afternoon of September 3. The question of referee was left open.

MELLODY AND THOMAS TO MEET ON LABOR DAY

On Labor Day, at the Lincoln Club, Henry McCarthy and Joe Thomas will come together at 145 pounds, to go the regular distance. Mighty Flaherty will referee the match, which was arranged yesterday by Johnny Mooreey and Harry Foley, the managers of the two boxers.

This match is very certain to insure a good contest. Thomas will train hard from now till the date of the meeting, and will do his work at Mike Devenny's Highland Lake Farm. He is possible that Mellody will train at Wrentham. He likes down there, too, outside the acquaintance of a couple of old Hibernians, will have a chance to do some sweating and fishing and will be able to row. Himself

EVER had a black eye. If Cuesar can't win surely he gently rolls over on the carpet and lets Abe feed. He is the most notorious quitter in the West, and Abe has picked for about five years to keep Cuesar out of the game.

He put the proposition up with the mother, however, but Abe lams the life out of him.

Mrs. Attell is speaking of her sons says: "When Abe gets I sit up and worry and worry and wait to hear the returns. I'm afraid he is hurt. When Monte gets it I sit and wonder how he is getting along. I think of his broken nose and bleeding face when fights I go to bed and sleep. KNOW he won't be hurt.

BRITT—HANLON MATCH.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 10.—The Bulletin to-day says that Jimmy Britt and Eddie Hanlon have been matched for a ten-round bout on Aug. 30. None of the details of the match have as yet been given out.

K. OF C. GAME AT COMBINATION

The knights of Columbus baseball fans will turn out in great numbers at St. Anne's Field Friday at Combination Park to witness the Chelsea council and the Saint Mary's council of Malden will battle. As a drawing card will be presented the clubhouse team, both teams will be seen to-morrow.

Both teams are tied high in the K. of C. League.

UNIONS VS. DORCHESTERS.

A good game is expected to-morrow afternoon when three Boston Unions and Dorchesters will play on Ward 9 playground at 2:30 o'clock. The battery for Boston Unions will be Meehane and Foley, for Dorchester, McCabe and Thomas.

FAST GAME TO-MORROW.

At Locust Street Grounds to-morrow at 2:30 p. m. the strong Jordan Marsh Co. team will battle with the fast Bay State players from the Parks. Harvey Dow, Dorchester, will referee. This promises to be a fast game, as both teams are putting up a good article of ball and can use of well known and clever players.

FILENE'S WILL PLAY BOOK MEN

Filene's and the Library Bureau baseball teams will meet for the second time this season at the Dorchester High School field, Dunbar avenue, to-morrow. Filene's was victorious in the first game by the score of 11-8, but the Library Bureau is confident that the tables will be turned when the teams come together again.

The lineup for the Library Bureau will be: Burke, pitcher; Coffey, catcher; Newton, first base; Delahaire, second base; Sorenson, third base; Kelly, shortstop; Hamforth, left field; Pete, centre field; and Macerda, right field.

O'Donnell and Pinhoney will be the battery for Filene's, with McInerney, Nash, Corbett, Knowles or Holt in the infield, and Jones, Bowley, Underwood or Delany in the outfield. A fast game is assured, and a large crowd of rooters will be on hand.

MT. WASHINGTON HILL CLIMB MAY BE REVIVED BY MOTORISTS IN 1907

BY J. C. KERRISON.

There is no doubt but what the Mt. Washington hill climbing contest, otherwise known as the "Climb to the Clouds," will be revived a year hence. There were two reasons for its abandonment this year. One was the question of safety to contestants, the course being at that time considered one of the most dangerous in the country. The second was the parsimonious policy followed by the owners of the mountain road. Therefore, the entry list for the Ford Notch was substituted. The results proved that road far more dangerous than was the mountain road, and no car could be sent up the same as they could at speed without taking desperate chances of serious accidents. Take for instance Crawford Notch more dangerous than up the mountain road, owing to the sharp twists and turns encountered.

It was abundantly proven that the Crawford Notch climb is too dangerous to be followed to any considerable degree. The general opinion of contestants and promoters is that the climb to the clouds should be revived. This is made all the more probable owing to the position taken this year by the managers of the mountain road, who have opened the same to automobiles on each Sunday in the season. They demand that all persons using the same shall sign a bond releasing the controlling company from any accident that may happen to men and machines while participating in the climb.

The hill climb this year, although successful and dangerous, was lacking in interest. It failed to attract the great attention or the great entry list which always followed the Mt. Washington climb. Interesting it was, but hardly as much so as the hill climb of last year. The absence of the other thing was the absence of previous promises to develop a stiff fight for the office of executive committeeman from New England. James Coogan of Springfield is making a hard canvass and believes that he will have secured enough votes to win over P. H. Hurley of Worcester. Hurley has allowed his friends to make his fight for him, with the result that there are at present eleven votes for Coogan to seven for Hurley. The mail vote of clubs still, it is believed, swing the matter.

YANGER READY FOR HERMAN

INDIANAPOLIS, Aug. 10.—Yanger and Herman ended their training yesterday, and each sent out the usual "perfect condition" yarns. The usual amount of raw beef steak and other training food is being consumed while the pugs are waiting for the battle to-night. To all appearance, the go at Indianapolis should be a real fight, judging from the antebellum reports.

The boys are to go ten rounds for a decision, with the privilege of a knockout.

DETROIT, Aug. 10.—The Ratskellers arrived here this morning to pay a series of four games with the Tigers before returning to Boston to open up with the Chicago team on Wednesday next.

When seen at the hotel this morning Manager Collins again denied that there was any truth to the report that he was about to rupture the Tiger team by securing the services of two of its players.

The public seems to know more about my team than I do," spouted the captain manager this morning. "I have my eye peeled for new men, and have had all sorts, but things have not yet come my way as all. Next year I'll have some new blood that will push the team back on its pedestal. I expect to make additions to the squad before the month is out."

CLEVELAND, Aug. 10.—It is a matter of opinion as to which team was deserving of the game more yesterday when Hess and Winter and Cunningham locked horns, the batters with little mercy, but rain commenced to drop in the seventh inning, and the diamond soon resembled a young lake that looked good for nothing but bullfrogs.

Hayden opened up on Hess with a triple and scored on Parent's fly. The others retired in the usual order. Then Hoch, for one inning, singled to centre and scored by a wild pitch.

In the second Grimshaw lined to Lajoie, Morgan singled and Armbruster walked. A passed ball advanced them all, but Hess struck the next two out. The rain caused too dark to see what the Tigers were doing in their turn, but they had not been fooled and nine strike on Congalton when Sheridan called the game.

EASTERN LEAGUE RESULTS.

At Montreal, Providence, 3; Montreal, 4.
At Buffalo—First game, Buffalo, 5; Jersey City, 4; second game, Buffalo, 6; Jersey City, 1.

Some Bright Girl Will Win This Doll's House

Write the Best Letter You Can On Keeping House and See if You Can Win It.

This is a new picture of the pretty dining room in Happy House. Dinner is all on the table waiting for Papa Happy to come home.

On the table is some turkey, and there are fruits and pies and cakes and all sorts of good things to eat, of course. They are all painted goodies, but you will not love them when you see them.

You can get a glimpse into the dining room if you get your mamma to bring you to the BOSTON AMERICAN office for you know the doll house is on exhibition in the window.

There is the cutest sideboard you ever saw. On the wall is an electric light fixture, and the silverware and dishes are all very pretty.

Dear little girls, what do you think of this lovely "Happy House" and its dear little family?

Are you not longing to have it for your very own?

The longest, raintest day will not seem too long or dreary if you have this perfect doll house to play with.

You and the little girl from next door can have, oh, such happy hours with it.

The first thing to do would be to take out all the furniture and give it a thorough carpet sweeping.

It really won't need sweeping, as Mrs. Happy is such an excellent housekeeper, but what little girl could resist that running carpet sweeper?

So you can sweep and dust and clean to your heart's content.

The Doll Editor is getting so fond of the Happys that he doesn't see how he can let them go when the time comes, to the child who wins them must promise to treat them very kindly and to keep their lovely home most spick and span.

In order to do this she must have some idea about housekeeping

Nowadays so many little girls help their mothers that surely there must be some pretty fine little housekeepers.

What have you all got to say on the subject? How would you keep house and look after your babies?

Remember that "Happy House" is not a tiny doll house, but a great big one, probably the biggest one you ever saw.

That is the reason it takes all Mrs. Happy's time to keep it clean.

Write and tell the Doll House Editor exactly what you would do if you were a grown up lady with a house and children of your own.

The girl who writes the best letter will win the doll house.

Address your letters to the BOSTON AMERICAN, No. 80 Summer street, Boston.

THIS IS A PHOTOGRAPH OF THE DINING ROOM IN "HAPPY HOUSE," THE BIG DOLL HOME WHICH WILL BE GIVEN TO THE LITTLE GIRL WHO WRITES THE BEST LETTER.

LETTERS FROM BRIGHT GIRLS WHO WANT TO WIN

Here Are Letters from Readers Who Want the Doll House—See If You Can Write a Better Letter

Here are some nice letters from little girls who are trying to win the big doll house. Some letters will be printed every day. Of course all cannot be printed, for hundreds are being received in every mail.

If your letter is not here, do not be discouraged. It may be printed any day. If you have not written yet, send your letter to-day.

MARY'S DAY OUT

DEAR DOLL EDITOR:

I think the "happy" family would be satisfied with this way of housekeeping. Every Monday morning the clothes would be washed, and ironed Tuesday. Thursday the house should be swept and dusted. Friday Mary should have a half holiday so as to get rested. Saturday Happy would take the family for a nice walk or a ride on the cars. The family should all go to church Sunday. They would have breakfast at 8, dinner at 1 and supper at 6. The children should be well treated, but not spoiled.

MARGARET ROBERTSON, 13 years.
No. 24 Standish avenue, Wollaston.

LOTS OF PLAYTHINGS

DEAR DOLL EDITOR:

I would wash the clothes on Monday and iron them on Tuesday. Wednesday I would sew and mend my children's clothes. Thursday I would go out for a walk with my baby. Friday I would sweep and dust my rooms. Saturday I would clean my kitchen and bake bread and cake. I would go to the market and buy meat and vegetables. I would take good care of my little girls and boy. I'd let them play in the house and nice day out of doors.

HELEN O'LEARY, 11 years.
No. 467 Washington street, Haverhill.

A BUSY DAY

DEAR DOLL EDITOR:

This is how I would keep house. I would get up in the morning and light the fire and then I would dress the children. Then I would get their breakfast and as them go out and play. I then would do the dishes, sweep the floor, then I would go to the store and get my dinner, come home and put it on to cook and then do the rest of my work. I would bring my children up to obey and respect their elders.

MISS HELEN DONAHUE, 10 years.
No. 30 Pearl street, Quincy.

ONE WAY TO DO IT

DEAR DOLL EDITOR:

I'd make the beds every morning. I'd wash on Monday, iron on Tuesday, go out shopping on Wednesday, sew on Thursday, clean the whole house Friday, bake on Saturday. On Sunday I would go to church and bring the children with me. I'd dust and sweep every day, and I'd take a bath every morning and a nap every afternoon. I'd give the children their meals and after meals send them out playing while I wash and wipe the dishes and set them nicely in the closet.

LILLIAN BURDELL, 10 years.
No. 4 Hudson street, Medford.

HAVE A GARDEN

DEAR DOLL EDITOR:

I would keep my house neat and clean and I would have a little garden of vegetables in the back yard for my own use. I would dress my children in the prettiest clothes I could afford. I would be loving to them and I would wish them to be the same. I would prepare nice meals for my family. I would be careful to see with whom my children played and try to make them happy by giving them every comfort I could afford.

MAE HANKARD, 12 years.
No. 335 Maple street, Marlboro.

How to Win the Doll's House

HOW would you keep house?

How would you treat your children?

The best answer to these questions wins this beautiful doll's house with all its furnishings.

Write only on one side of the paper.

Do not write more than one hundred words.

Give age, name and address in full, and write plainly.

Address Doll's House Editor, care of the Boston American, No. 80 Summer street.

EARLY TO BED

DEAR DOLL EDITOR:

If I had the dolls and doll house I would try for to keep them clean and treat them well. Monday I would wash. Tuesday iron. Wednesday sew. Thursday cook. Friday clean. Saturday cook and market and Sunday rest. They would be up at 7 and have breakfast at 8. In the afternoon they would be cleaned up. I would bathe the baby every day and let them all take a nap. I would have them in bed by 7 o'clock.

MILDRED CROSS, 13 years.
No. 17 Reckland avenue, Roxbury.

BED AT 7:15 SHARP

DEAR DOLL EDITOR:

If I had the nice doll house, I'd keep very good care of it. I would be very kind to my children and put them to bed at quarter past 7 every night. I would make nice clothes for them. I'd keep them clean. In Summer I'd use my gas stove and in Winter I'd use my stove. I'd teach the children to cook. Rainy days I'd let them play in the house.

"SHADOWS OF NEW YORK"

Copyright, 1908, by American Journal-Examiner

As the drug began to take effect, the stranger offered to take his victim back to his hotel in a cab. Once in the cab, and the victim unconscious, the gentleman was robbed of all his valuables. Then the druggist stopped the cab, and, alighting, told the cabman to drive the occupant of the cab to some hotel, laughingly remarking that his friend had taken a drop too much.

Grieve looked up from the paper.

Grieve Scared

"Do you mean to say that sort of thing happens often? It's nonsense. I don't believe it."

"Don't you?" said Haggard drily. "Well, I am not surprised, after the way you've been going off this afternoon with that man in the gambling club who pretended he had met you at the house of some person."

"You don't mean that he——"

"Was an adventurer? Ah, but then I could not persuade you either that "Captain Danby was an adventurer!" said Haggard.

I was merely going to say that I should advise you not to become too friendly with strangers at the bar here, that's all. It would be unpleasant for me if I had to cart you home unconscious.

And then, sometimes these men inadvertently give their victim an overdose by mistake; there was a case not long ago of that kind, when a man died in a cab from the effects of an overdose dropped into his glass. I know you dislike to listen to advice, Grieve; still, I wouldn't be too ready to pick up acquaintances at bars, if I were you."

A rather startled look had come into Grieve's face. Haggard hoped that his words had frightened the man a little. He had not been without a motive in drawing his companion's attention to the paragraph of that kind, when a man died in a cab from the effects of an overdose dropped into his glass. He had wished to frighten Grieve, and he could see from the young man's face that he had succeeded.

Grieve was nothing loath.

After a while Haggard left him with his third whisky. It was too much of an effort to appear ordinarily friendly to Grieve for long together.

The cinematograph pictures were almost at the end of the performance; just now a ballet was in progress, and the stage was full of glittering color and movement.

But Haggard hardly glanced toward the stage. His thoughts were with the man he had left at the bar, talking and laughing familiarly, in the first stage of bonhomie.

If only his scheme worked!

An Exciting Moment

The evening wore on. Grieve once or twice wandered from the bar to the private box. He walked unsteadily. His utterance was thick. Through most of the performance Haggard was left alone, thinking. He was only waiting until the moving photographs should have been exhibited before he would have some drinks brought to the box, and then finish the work of reducing Grieve to a condition when he could rob him of that packet safely.

The next turn was announced—the cinematograph pictures. On the white screen appeared the title of the first series, "A Journey on the Pacific Railway." Then the photographs appeared on the screen.

The first set, the second, the third were shown. At last Haggard's watching eye saw the words flashed on the screen:

"Embarking of Passengers on the ill-fated Steamship Beulah Hill."

A curious tingling sensation came over him. In another moment he would see the figure of Robert Wynter among those of the other passengers embarking—the man whom he had last seen lying prostrate in the reading-room library within the radius of the shaded lamp—whom he had dragged to the open window. The mystery yet to be explained his partner had escaped, was actually on the boat.

If only he could have been sure that Robert Wynter was at the bottom of the sea! Grieve's suggestion had seared him. The message that morning from the police, the message that morning from the police, the message that morning from the police, the

MOTHER'S LOVE WAITS FOR BOY LONG MISSING

MANUEL ROSE

Missing boy from Central Falls, R. I., who may be in Boston.

Rhode Island Woman Asks American to Find "Runaway Son."

PAWTUCKET, Aug. 10.—With her mother heart aching, her mind racked by fear, Mrs. Manuel Rose of Central street, Central Falls, prevailed upon the BOSTON AMERICAN to help her find and recover her son, Emanuel, aged fifteen years, who disappeared from his home on July 14.

Emanuel, who is a bright lad, in company with two other boys older than himself, Boudier and Bulamer, left Central Falls to see the world. They came as far as Boston and took lodgings in a hotel.

Late the afternoon of that same day the Boudier boy, thinking better of the enterprise, slipped away from his companions and returned home. He told Mrs. Rose that Emanuel and the Bozzner boy were talking about taking passage on a sailing vessel and seeing the great world that they had been dreaming about.

Mrs. Rose does not think that her son has really done this. She believes that he is still in Boston and asks the AMERICAN to help her find him. She loves her son and wants him to return to his home where he has always been happy and contented. She thinks he is hiding from a boyish whim and will welcome him with a mother's fond love if he returns to her.

START CRUSADE AGAINST TIGHTS

CLEVELAND, Aug. 10.—Miss Olga Orloff, prima donna of the "Avenue Girls" company, has begun a crusade against tights.

"The ordinary girl is made ill by her first week of wearing tights," said Olga. "When tights are worn the prospects—which means tight and without wrinkles—there is a strain of 320 pounds to the square inch on the skin downward from the waist line.

"Sometimes a chorus girl is not physically, of course, all she should be. In other words, nature has not run riot in showing her eccentricities. There are bodies places that need filling out. For such there is affected the 'hunt' in the opposite direction.

"The 'hunt' is cut from lambs' wool, differs from the 'symmetrical' in that it is used for only one occasion, whereas the 'symmetrical' is a permanent addition.

"And right there is another danger. Elastic and 'symmetricals' tend to stop the circulation of the blood.

"So I tell you, an organized movement against tights is slowly gaining ground."

CITIZEN SOLDIERS OUTSHOOT REGULARS

NEW YORK, Aug. 10. The New York State militia riflemen completely outclassed the sharpshooters of the United States Navy and the United States Marine Corps yesterday at Creedmoor, in the second day's shooting for the challenge trophy presented by General E. A. Merritt. The competitors in this shoot used 200, 600 and 1000 yard targets, eight men shooting at each distance. The New York militia scored 1,000, the sailors 950 and the marines 895. At the shorter targets the sailors put up as good a shooting as the militia, but they were easily defeated on the long range.

WILLIAM RANDOLPH HEARST

80 AND 82 SUMMER ST., BOSTON, AUGUST 10, 1906

Mr. Shaw's Plan to Help the People

It Is the Regular Thing, and Just About Worthy of a Dancing Hottentot's Intelligence

The country is said to be enjoying what is called a "money stringency." That means a lack of golden chips for the big gambling game of speculation in Wall street and elsewhere. When that happens money is "high" and speculators are willing to pay a high rate to borrow it.

Under such conditions men of capital lend their money out at interest instead of putting it into the development of the country. Workers suffer for lack of employment, people get nervous, money is "hoarded," as they say, and hard times begin.

Usually this thing of hard times is due to loss of employment from "overproduction," and overproduction is due to the fact that, when ONE tenth of the population has enough, work stops, as the other NINE tenths cannot afford to buy.

For instance, as you know, there is overproduction in sealskin sacques and pianos long before every woman has one.

And, unfortunately, also, there is overproduction in ordinary clothing long before the general crowd has enough.

Overproduction, so called, has been due in the past to business competition, which used to be called "the life of trade," until the trusts came to prove that more money can be made without competition and WITH organization.

On the old competitive system, men of business went ahead, each on his own hook, fighting the others. Even if he saw "overproduction" and hard times coming on, he did not stop UNTIL HE HAD TO. His factory had to keep going to keep HIS capital active. There was no way for him to arrive at an understanding with others.

In the old way everybody went ahead, until there came a sudden crash and factories began to close up by wholesale.

Fortunately, the trusts, which are destined to do this country great good BY COMPELLING PUBLIC OWNERSHIP, have already done good in their piratical way by regulating business. They minimize at this time the danger of an old-time hard-times panic.

Our great industries—steel, leather, etc.—are organized on a national basis.

The Steel Trust, for instance, has ALL the orders, practically, and it sees its way clearly for at least A YEAR AHEAD. That trust, like the other great manufacturing industries, works always on advance orders, a RUSH market, with customers and cash actually waiting for the goods to be delivered.

There can be no surprise there, no unexpected developments, no sudden, spasmodic, simultaneous shutting down of plants without warning. Manufacturing operations can be gradually contracted or expanded as indicated by the demand, and sudden trade convulsions largely prevented.

With a system of industry properly organized, and a sane system of government finance, such a thing as a panic or anything approaching it would be impossible—and our trusts, imperfectly, often stupidly and criminally managed, foreshadow already the vast benefits that industrial organization will confer on humanity. Already human beings begin to work, think and ORGANIZE AS A NATION, no longer fighting forever as mere separated units.

Meanwhile, as a nation, we still have our "money troubles." These are unnecessary—as has been proved in New Zealand, where no panic has been known since the government decided to make panics impossible by managing public funds for the public benefit.

Our money panics are dangerous to the people—REAL OR IMAGINARY though they may be. For when there is talk of "tight money" the banks get nervous, and then the banks, which are supposed to PROTECT the people, and which make usurious profits of hundreds of millions on that supposition, shut off all credits, withdraw loans, and force bankruptcy on thousands by closing the only known organized avenue of credit.

The "money stringency" of to-day is fortunately mild.

This country is enormously prosperous—rich and productive beyond all precedent. If our selfish human brains could only plan for DISTRIBUTION OF WEALTH among the people as intelligently as we now plan for selfish individual ACCUMULATION OF WEALTH, there would be no money problem, no panic.

The demand for money to-day is partly due—as always—to excessive gambling, to shameless selling of watered stocks, to robbery of the family savings, and consequent frightening of the investor. The stringency is also part of our prosperity, for, under our stupid financial system, huge crops cause temporary worry because of the vast sums of money needed to "move the crops." Those sums must be taken out of Wall street's gambling maw for a short time—thus causing the "money stringency" howl to go up.

An amusing feature of our "scientific" national financial methods is emphasized in our method of "meeting national financial emergencies."

In the first place, such emergencies are only recognized as such when groans are heard in Wall street. If a police force refused to act unless some professional GAMBLER were hurt, it would be a funny police force, wouldn't it? How funny is a government that sees nothing alarming until the Wall street GAMBLERS yell for more cash. If a half million men are out of work, THAT IS NORMAL, quite all right. For the government to interfere would be shameful "paternalism."

But let five hundred Wall street gamblers be a little short of the golden "chips" with which they play their game, and government becomes nervous and active at once.

Mr. Shaw, our Secretary of the national treasure, has heard the bitter cry of Wall street, and his heart has been moved.

Of course, he says publicly that the "country needs money."

What do you think he is going to DO?

He has set aside fifty million dollars of the public money, and will use the sum "TO REDEEM GOVERNMENT BONDS."

He will buy back from bankers and men of great wealth the bonds of this government, PAYING A HIGH PREMIUM ON THEM, that the owners may take a fat profit out of the business.

In this fashion the nation will "scatter" fifty millions of dollars "among the people" by way of "relieving the money stringency."

Is not that enough to make a sick cat laugh?

The country needs money—so they say.

And the people's representative thinks the only thing to do is to put fifty millions of the people's money into buying back bonds from the banks, corporations and millionaires that hold them.

Some way to help the little business man, the American citizen, rich or poor, whose welfare demands GENERAL prosperity.

How many dollars out of the fifty millions will be put into general circulation? The men that will sell the bonds to the government and get the fifty millions of public money KNOW HOW TO TAKE ADVANTAGE OF A MONEY STRINGENCY, and they will see to it that the fifty millions do THEM good, and no one else.

You may ask: "What else could the government do?"

The answer you have read, imperfectly expressed, is little at a time in this column. You may read a fairly good answer in the present history of New Zealand, where they run the country, including its finances, for the people.

The main question is, "What do you think of the system you have actually GOT NOW?"

How would it be to put fifty millions and a thousand millions of government money into THE PEOPLE'S POCKETS?

How? Well, for instance:

By national railroads, PAYING GOOD, LIVING WAGES, on an eight-hour basis, with pensions for widows and children when the men die.

By loans direct from the government to the farmers, at the lowest rate of interest, NO PROFIT BY BANKERS OR ANY OTHER KIND OF SHARK.

By intelligent, CONSERVATIVE, fair distributing of national wealth throughout the nation through great government enterprises on lines of national monopoly, by means of postal savings banks, WHICH NEVER CLOSE UP AND ROB DEPOSITORS, and in endless other simple ways.

Do not ask if such things could be done.

THEY ARE DONE NOW in New Zealand, a little country, poor, compared with our vast wealth, but rich in happiness and GENERAL PROSPERITY because the government represents the people and not Wall street; because it represents the masses and interests itself in the "money stringency" of the MOTHER, the FATHER of a big family, and not merely in the money needs of those that deal in tens of millions.

THE HALL-ROOM BOYS

THEY DO IT ON $11.50 PER

Copyright, 1906, by American-Journal-Examiner

GEE PERC! $50 ALL AT ONCE. SAY, WE WONT DO A THING, BUT PAINT THE OLD TOWN RED WITH ALL THIS MONEY. TOO BAD WE COULDN'T GET THE CALF IF WE COME HOME THIS YEAR ON OUR VACATION. SAY WE OUGHT TO MAKE A GREAT HIT DOWN THERE WITH OUR NEW YORK STYLES.
YES, POP SAYS HE'LL KILL THE FATTED EXTRA WEEK WITH PAY TOO.
I HEAR YOU'RE GOING ON YOUR VACATION PERCY.
WHY THAT'S THE SAME TRAIN MR MILLIONBUCKS AND HIS SISTERS ARE GOING ON. YOU'LL HAVE COMPANY PART OF THE WAY.
YES WE DECIDED TO RUSTICATE THIS YEAR. ONE CANT GET RESTED AT THESE SUMMER RESORTS. SO WE'RE GOING UP TO OUR FATHER'S ESTATE IN THE ADIRONDACKS. WE LEAVE ON THE 7.50 TRAIN.
PERCY ALWAYS SEEMS TO BE THE CENTRE OF ATTRACTION.
HOW FORTUNATE! HERE ARE THE HALL ROOM BOYS. WE WILL HAVE THE PLEASURE OF YOUR COMPANY.
GEE PERC! WE'LL HAVE TO SHAKE THEM. WE'RE NOT RIDING IN ANY PARLOR CARS.
I SEE YOU HAVE SEATS IN THE LAST CAR. OUR CAR IS MORE TOWARDS THE MIDDLE. I BELIEVE WE'LL COME DOWN AND SEE YOU LATER. WHERE WE GET OUR SLEEPERS ARRANGED.
STRANGE THE BOYS DIDN'T COME IN TO SEE US. I WONDER WHERE ALGY WENT TO? I'M SLEEPY AND WANT TO RETIRE, AND HE'S RUN OFF WITH THE KEYS TO OUR VALISES. LET'S LOOK HIM UP. IT WILL BE FUN GOING THROUGH THE TRAIN.
HE SAID SOMETHING ABOUT A COMMERCIAL FRIEND OF HIS, WHO WAS ON THE TRAIN. PERHAPS HE'S WITH HIM.
GEE PERC, THIS ISN'T FEATHERS OR DOWN, BUT WE'RE SAVING SOME.
YEP! ALL THE MORE SPENDING MONEY FOR US. HOPE THE GIRLS DON'T GET WISE TO OUR BLUFF ABOUT THE SLEEPERS.
WHY HERE ARE THE BOYS! YOU DIDN'T TAKE A SLEEPER AFTER ALL, DID YOU.
ER—ALL THE SLEEPERS WERE TAKEN. WE SHOULD HAVE ORDERED IN ADVANCE.
HERE'S ALGY NOW.
LOOKING FOR ME? I'VE JUST BEEN TALKING WITH AN OLD FRIEND OF MINE. HELLO HALL ROOM. NO SLEEPERS YOU SAY? WHY THE CAR NEXT TO US IS ALMOST EMPTY!

THEY GO TO SPEND THEIR VACATION ON THEIR FATHER'S "ESTATE"

Everyone's Out of Town

By James J. Montague

SUMMER—and Everyone's out of town,
Fled far from the withering heat
That the sun all day sends sullenly down
On sweltering alley and street;
The shutters are up on the Avenue,
And the houses, so grim and brown,
Are empty—except for a servant or two—
For Everyone's out of town.

WHERE the breakers roll their thundering song,
And shower- the shore with foam
Is gathered the chattering, care-free throng
That has vanished away from home.
The shadowy paths of the woods are bright
With many a gorgeous gown,
And the mountains echo with laughter light,
For Everyone's out of town.

SOME hundreds of thousands of children still
Are breathing the reeking air,
And mothers with white-faced babies grill
In each doorway and crowded square,
While grim Disease, through the long, hot night
Walks silently up and down;
His field is wide and his harvest white,
But Everyone's out of town.

EACH day from the slums, where the poor abide,
In a beautiful coach of glass,
Some baby is taking his first grand ride
Toward the trees and the velvet grass;
Far out where the skies are a clearer blue
And the sun looks more softly down,
The wan little fellows are traveling, too,
Like Everyone, out of town.

August Fashions for Men

By Wex Jones

MANY men appear ignorant of when a coat should be worn. The rule is simple enough—formal functions are spoiled by shirt sleeves, and no self-respecting man will display them on such occasions, even if it does render him better fitted to fight his way to the supper table. Coats should also be worn when mosquitoes are about.

* * *

Bands are worn on straw hats and cigars.

* * *

Bulldogs are not worn so much as formerly. They are being displaced by terriers.

* * *

In choosing socks for vacation wear, while considerable latitude is allowed, one should not select a pattern that will scare the farmer's horses.

* * *

Good form is especially desirable in bathing suits.

* * *

Derby hats are going out of style for wear with bathing suits.

* * *

Ties are usually worn around the neck.

* * *

Trousers are always in style.

Much jewelry is not considered good form with informal outing dress. A few rings, a jewelled fob, a set of diamond studs and one large stone in the pin are the only articles conservative men wear at this season.

WHAT DOES THE GAS COMPANY DO WITH ITS DEPOSIT FUND?

Editor BOSTON AMERICAN:

A Boston taxpayer wishes you would air this scheme of the gas company of securing a large interest-drawing fund from deposits on meters to be refunded in the dim future.

SAYS THERE ARE MEN WORSE THAN GORKY

Editor BOSTON AMERICAN:

A few days ago I noticed in the Boston papers a piece by a certain clergyman denouncing Maxim Gorky as a polluter of women, and a few other unpleasant things. Said clergyman is either making these statements without knowing the real facts of the case or else, knowing Gorky to be a socialist, he enjoyed getting a whack at him. The people of several cities were shocked to know that such a man was going to speak before them and refused him a place to speak.

They don't say one word against the rum-selling politicians who overrun Boston and other large cities, and who, by having a ladies' entrance and selling liquor to young girls, are making hundreds of prostitutes every day and starting them on the road to ruin. And those are your respectable business men, and some of them members of the church! Why do hundreds spoil one person while hundreds go unnoticed?
